

PROFESSOR KOFOD, of the University of California, delivered a lecture on evolution before the Theological Society, to which the assembled clergymen responded by "free speech" in a "How Firm a Foundation."

Whereupon somebody commends them for letting the professor say what he thought, and themselves sing what they thought, thereby exemplifying free speech.

Right enough, if nothing were involved but free speech. But something much deeper is involved, which is the recognition of the real foundation of Truth.

The foundation of these ministers' faith in God and the divine spirit in man is indeed firm. But no foundation's "firmness" is a sound basis for anything but its own suitable structure.

A gun emplacement is "firm" enough, but you can not use it as a dry dock or a dirigible landing mast.

The only firm foundation of scientific knowledge is scientific observation. They who would substitute an uncritical proof-text theory for the observed facts, as the foundation of a knowledge of nature, are building upside down.

Even if Mexican citizens have no remedy under Mexican law against this seizure of their property, we have the right of protest, under international law, against any law authorizing it upon our citizens.

California has been "liberal" enough in forbidding the further purchase of land by aliens. But if California had also passed a law permitting the taking without compensation of land already owned, there would have been prompt and justified protests from the Japanese and Chinese governments.

Mexico secured American recognition upon an express agreement not to do this. Now that a law has been passed clearly contrary to the terms of this agreement, the continuance of that recognition is jeopardized.

DISPATCHES announce the photographing and measuring of another universe, 66,669,872,000,000 miles away. The chances are that the telegrapher or proofreader left out several ciphers. For this figure, if correct, would make this particular universe only a little over six hundred million times further away than the sun.

Universes have already been measured a thousand times further away than that, and even these are relatively near, as compared with much fainter ones, barely photographic in the largest telescopes, but not yet measured.

"The heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament showeth His handiwork." But do they not also declare the divinity of man, who, an infinitesimal microbe, crawling on a movable mote floating about one of the most insignificant specks of star-dust, is able not only to grasp, but to measure, the vast reach of endless flocks of universes? Surely the astronomer comes nearest of all God's creatures to viewing Infinity from the throne of the archangels.

SCHOOL commencement addresses are usually, at best, a barely endurable evil. But Rabbi Newman set a new record by saying two really good things in one such address. He accused the college of "turning out intellectual sausages," and the girls of "thinking with their feet."

To the "intellectual sausage" epigram, may we add another, once perpetrated by Professor Thomas H. Reed, then of the University of California and now of the University of Michigan? Describing one of his own classes, which had 1500 students in it and would have had 2000 if there had been an auditorium large enough to hold them, he said: "It reminds me of nothing so much as the slaughterhouse where they run a trainload of wheat in at one end and a trainload of packed biscuits out at the other, and the sign says that in the meantime it has not been touched by human hands."

This is the mass-production age, and its tendency is to produce, in education as in everything else, a standardized product. It is the price of quantity. And, to give the universities due credit, they are suffering from it much less than any other modern institution.

THE Senate is not alone in its cult of the "incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial." Congressman Lindeberger, for instance, doubtless knows as well as anybody else that Mussolini's laws against the political Masonry of Italy have little bearing on American Masonry, and none at all on the Italian debt settlement. He probably does not even object to the debt settlement itself, which is all we can get and certainly much better than nothing. But he took the occasion of the debt settlement to deliver a speech in defense of American Masonry. It is the custom of Congress to do such things. The mitigation is that in the House of Representatives the limit is usually five or ten minutes, while in the Senate the only limit is the lungs and the assurance of the Senator.

AMBASSADOR BERENGER and President Coolidge having exchanged the usual felicitations of diplomatic courtesy, the Ambassador renews the assurance that France wants to pay.

Very well. Let France send a delegation.

Senate in Wild Confusion on Gag Rule

KLAN ISSUE INJECTED IN COURT FIGHT

Early Vote on America's Participation in World Tribunal Is Predicted

CHANGES ARE OFFERED

Twenty-two Reservations Are Given Attention by Upper House of Congress

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 26.—Confused by its own rules, the senate this afternoon waded into 22 reservations to the world court proposal before it and started to find a way to an early vote on the major protocol.

After the tumult of quorum calls, motions to adjourn and other time-killing tactics yesterday, an agreement was sought today to determine what should be taken up and how.

When finally worked out, it was so involved as to be incomprehensible and Senator Reed, Missouri Democrat, challenged it as "contrary to the constitution and to the rules of the senate."

Quotes Kipling, Tennyson
Senator Heflin, Alabama, Democrat, started debate with an anti-war speech, having no particular reference to the reservation before the senate, quoting from Kipling and Tennyson.

An undercurrent of speculation as to the result of strong Klan opposition to the court proposal was noted today.

Some senators, who were elected with Klan support, received word that the fraternal organization would consider a vote for the court as a breach of faith. Southern Democrats have so long been pledged to the court, however, that they have replied they will not heed the warning at this late date.

No Objection By Coolidge
At the White House, it was said the president has no objection to the new Swanson proposal and resolutions or to the use of cloture to further the project.

Senator Levent, acting Republican floor leader, believes the reservation can be acted upon today with a vote on the world court protocol late this afternoon or tonight.

Senator James Reed, Democrat, Missouri, has served notice, however, that he will demand every minute of time allowed the irreconcilables under the cloture rule to argue their case.

Reservation Adopted
The first Swanson reservation to American participation in the world court was adopted by the senate today, 89 to 1.

Senator Frazier, North Dakota, Republican, was the only member dissenting from the reservation, which would limit the United States will assume no legal relations with the League of Nations or any obligations under the Treaty of Versailles.

The other irreconcilables either voted in favor of the reservation or refrained from voting. Senator Blease, South Carolina, Democrat, voted "no," but later changed his vote.

Adopt Second Reservation
The second Swanson reservation, providing that this country participate in the council of the League of Nations on an equality with other nations in the election of judges, was speedily adopted by a vote of 83 to 3. Five Republicans, Borah, Frazier, La Follette, Moses and Williams, with two Democrats, Blease and Reed, of Missouri, and Shipstead, Farmer-Labor, voted against it.

The third Swanson reservation, requiring the United States to pay a fair portion of the expenses of the world court, was adopted, 89 to 3. Senators Blease, Frazier and Harold opposed it.

The fourth Swanson reservation was adopted, 91 to 1. Blease casting the only dissenting vote. It provides that the United States may withdraw from the court at any time and that the protocol of the court cannot be amended without the consent of this country.

U. S. Sleuths Nab 61 in Single Town

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 26.—Sixty-one residents of Broderick, Yolo county, were arrested on dry laws and vagrancy charges last night in a raid by 22 federal officers. All were arraigned at once, and many paid fines of $100 each.

SHERIFF TELLS WHY RUM WAS GIVEN CONVICTS

(By United Press)
WOODLAND, Calif., Jan. 26.—While the grand jury was considering charges against him, Sheriff J. W. Monroe was reported today to have admitted there was "a bottle along" on the trip he made with two convicted bank bandits to San Quentin prison.

"My deputies and I were taking W. P. Richardson and 'Little Joe' Duncan to San Quentin in automobiles and I wanted them to loosen up," the sheriff is reported as saying.

"I was particularly anxious to learn where 'Little Joe' had buried $4000, part of the bank loot. So I allowed them to have a few drinks. I was given a lot of valuable information, but 'Little Joe' wouldn't come through regarding the $4000—said he wanted to keep that as a stake. Now if we had had two bottles instead of one—"

Sheriff Monroe was called before the grand jury a month ago to explain his attendance at an Italian dinner where wine was served, and indicated he would attend again if invited.

The officer says the charges against him are sponsored by a "dry" member of the jury. He runs for re-election next fall.

PARTY HEADS EAT WITH PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—With Col. William Mitchell's sentence disposed of and the world court resolution on its way to adoption by the senate, President Coolidge this morning held an unexpected breakfast conference with 13 Republican leaders of the house. The guests for sausages, buckwheat cakes and maple syrup include Speaker Longworth, Majority Leader Tilton, Everett Sanders, the president's secretary, and the following chairmen and high Republican members of house committees:

Madden, Illinois, appropriations; Sinnott, Oregon, public lands, Hawley, Oregon, ways and means.

After the conference, the president's guests refused to comment upon what happened at the breakfast except to praise the New England victuals.

FASCIST PLOT IN BERLIN SCENTED

BERLIN, Jan. 26.—The Berliner Zeitung Am Mittag today reported that Fascist organizations were planning a coup for tomorrow, including occupation of Berlin and disarmament of such squads of police as were deemed "reliable"—meaning unwilling to support the Fascists. The police admitted they had been informed of the alleged plans, but did not take them seriously.

U. S. SHIP LEBEDED

TOKIO, Japan, Jan. 26.—The Bank of Korea has labeled the U. S. shipping board liners President Jackson and President Grant for $11,000 yen, in connection with a dispute over a bill of lading. This is the third case of this nature in Japan in recent months.

WIFE TURNS ON SLAYER OF CHOIR SINGER

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 26.—David L. Marshall, debonaire 42-year-old chiropractor, who confessed to the cruel murder of Miss Anna May Dietrich, 34, milliner and choir singer, today was abandoned to his fate by his wife.

A wan, silver-haired woman, who said she was the mother of Mrs. Marshall, answered the door at the Marshall home today and said simply, "Mrs. Marshall never wants to see him again."

Yesterday, after Marshall had steadfastly maintained that the milliner had taken poison in his office and that he had nothing to do with her murder, Mrs. Marshall had expressed sympathy for her trouble.

"He is my husband," she said then. "I will stick by him. He's always been a wonderful husband and father. Oh, he cannot be guilty. He just cannot. I'll go to him as soon as the police let me."

Chloroform Bandit Is Hunted

PASADENA, Jan. 26.—Police here are searching for a "chloroform bandit," who robbed Mrs. S. W. Felleman, 45, after administering an anesthetic.

The mysterious burglar ransacked the Felleman home early today and escaped with $40 in cash.

Police found Mrs. Felleman in a semi-unconscious condition on the floor of her living room, a chloroform vial and towel nearby.

Chiropractor Confesses to Strangling Girl in Office And Dismembering Body

(By United Press)
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 26.—David L. Marshall, debonaire 42-year-old chiropractor, who confessed to the cruel murder of Miss Anna May Dietrich, 34, milliner and choir singer, today was abandoned to his fate by his wife.

A wan, silver-haired woman, who said she was the mother of Mrs. Marshall, answered the door at the Marshall home today and said simply, "Mrs. Marshall never wants to see him again."

Yesterday, after Marshall had steadfastly maintained that the milliner had taken poison in his office and that he had nothing to do with her murder, Mrs. Marshall had expressed sympathy for her trouble.

"He is my husband," she said then. "I will stick by him. He's always been a wonderful husband and father. Oh, he cannot be guilty. He just cannot. I'll go to him as soon as the police let me."

But today she denied herself to interviewers and even the closest neighbors who called to express sympathy for her trouble.

"My daughter and her 13-year-old girl have left town to rest," said Mrs. Marshall's mother. She refused to divulge their destination.

The chiropractor's confession has shocked the entire neighborhood where he was known as an amiable professional man, a congenial neighbor and a model husband and father.

How he was able secretly to carry on the intimate relations with the choir singer for more than eight years could not be understood. At the Marshall home, it was learned that the slayer spent most of his evenings in company of his wife and daughter.

Girl Often Visits Office

Police, however, learned that Miss Dietrich often visited the chiropractor's office, telling her friends she was ill and needed attention. It was on one of these trips, according to the slayer, that the milliner exposed what he termed her "cabaret complex," and insisted that he accompany her to night clubs and dancing parlors. To a girl friend, police were told, the murdered girl secretly confided:

"I've been shut in long enough. I'm going to see life. A man in New York wants to marry me and I can settle down then. Right now I'm going to live."

Guarded Against Suicide
Guards paced the corridor in front of Marshall's cell today, to prevent him from attempting to end his own life, following his dramatic confession last night that he not only was the man who dismembered the body of Anna May Dietrich, but that he had strangled her to death.

"I lied, I lied," he had suddenly shouted at questioners who were re-examining him on his story that Miss Dietrich committed suicide in his office and that he had dismembered the body and hidden its parts while in a panic of fear.

A stenographer was called and he made a new statement, saying Miss Dietrich attempted to blackmail him and he strangled her.

MITCHELL IS QUIET ON ACT OF COOLIDGE

Plane Critic Keeps Silent On Sentence Modification On Advice of Friends

RESIGNATION HELD UP

Convicted Officer to Draw Partial Salary Only During President's Pleasure

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—A resolution authorizing investigation of the court-martial and sentence of Col. William Mitchell, with a view to revising army and navy court-martial procedure and articles of war, was introduced in the house today by Representative Conally, Democrat, of Texas.

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 26.—On the advice of his counsel and friends, Col. William Mitchell today remained silent in the face of President Coolidge's approval of his conviction and five-year suspension from the army, to await developments.

The award by the president of half pay during the period of suspension, his only modification of the sentence which cut off all Mitchell's pay, has raised a new issue in that it may be drawn only "during the pleasure of the president."

Mitchell's counsel, Representative Frank R. Reed, has denounced this string on Mitchell's pay as "un-American" and there are indications that Mitchell considers it a tether rope to keep him "on the reservation" if he chooses to remain in the army.

Accordingly, resignation from the army, which Mitchell firmly intended to go ahead with as soon as his sentence was approved, is temporarily held up.

He finally decided today, however, whether he will put "the president's pleasure" to a test.

The opportunity awaits him in the hearings of the house military committee, before which he has been invited to testify this week. If he appears before the committee and reiterates all his well known charges and criticism, which the president has declared "unfounded," a real issue will be raised.

Meanwhile, some of his congressional friends probably will introduce bills in congress to set aside the verdict and promote him to be a brigadier general.

President Coolidge, through his spokesmen, today answered charges that he had approved the Mitchell sentence with undue haste and without investigation, stating that he had conferred several days with the Secretary of War, Dyer, and studied the complete abstract for two and a half days before his decision.

Saves Mother and Children In Fire

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 26.—Fred Allen saved his sister, Mrs. E. L. Stemp, and her three small children from an east side rooming house fire today, but nearly lost his own life.

He first conducted Mrs. Stemp and one baby to safety and then made another trip into the flaming building. As he emerged to the street, with the other children tucked under his arms, he collapsed in the doorway, overcome by smoke.

Loss to the building, owned by U. S. Senator Stanfield, amounted to about $8000.

CHORUS GIRLS DRIVE BIG BUTTER, EGG MEN TO SEA

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26.—George Makins, founder of the butter and egg organization, said it was a "fowl slander" that the delegates had not brought their wives along.

"We may be butter and egg men, but we want the chorus girls to keep their distance," he said. "That's why we're taking this trip to Catalina island—to get away from the girls."

MAN CALLS FOR AD SENT OUT BY RADIO

Sixty Men Aboard Disabled Vessels in Grave Danger; Leviathan Delayed

2 SAILORS LOSE LIVES

Mountains of Waves Handicap Rescue Efforts During Mid-Atlantic Storm

(By United Press)
NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Out in the mid-Atlantic, where seas are reported rolling 50 feet high, at least two ships, with some 60 men aboard, are in grave danger and two lives have been given by the crew of the American Steamship President Roosevelt in an heroic attempt at rescue.

Radio reported other, apparently less serious instances of distress during the night and kept the ether alive with the hurried efforts to report on the disasters and to bring help.

For the second time, the International Radio week broadcasting program had to be interrupted by Atlantic coast stations to clear the air for mercy messages.

Many Ships Delayed
In addition to the ships in distress, numerous vessels have been reported delayed, including the liner Leviathan, enroute here from Europe with many notable aboard.

The epic of the night came from the Roosevelt, which yesterday reported the disappearance, behind a curtain of snow, of the British freighter Antiope, with the Roosevelt almost alongside. The Antiope for a time was feared to have gone down.

But during the night, a new message came from the Roosevelt. It told of having again sighted the Antiope, the latter vessel entirely disabled, her engines not working and her lights, except for hand lanterns, extinguished.

Roosevelt had made gallant efforts to remove the crew from the derelict ship. A lifeboat had been launched in the morning during the evening. A wave came and crushed it against the liner's sides and two sailors were drowned.

Abandon Rescue Work
The rescue efforts had to be abandoned temporarily, but at last reports the Antiope was still afloat, with the Roosevelt, carrying many passengers, standing by where she had been stranded Sunday.

The second ship in distress was the British freighter Laristan, reported to be in a sinking condition in mid-Atlantic. The liner Bremen, radio reports showed, was the nearest to the Laristan and this morning was reported speeding to the rescue. Nothing had been heard from the vessel since midnight giving cause for fear that major disaster has overtaken her.

CREW PREPARES TO ABANDON FREIGHTER

CHATHAM, Mass., Jan. 26.—While the liner Bremen struggled through mountainous seas today in an effort to save their lives, members of the crew of the British freighter Laristan prepared to abandon their storm-battered ship, according to radio advice received here.

The messages, which were relayed by the liner Aquitania, stated the Bremen was speeding to the Laristan's aid, but that the crew of the crippled ship feared it would be forced to take to the lifeboats as she arrived.

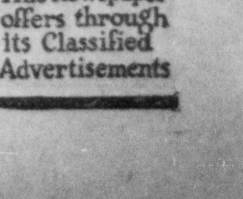

Exact position of the Laristan could not be determined from reports received by the Chatham station, but these advices indicated she was several hundred miles off Nova Scotia.

Committee Asks For Plane Plans

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—The house military affairs committee today formally asked Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, army air service chief, to draw up and submit to it a bill carrying out his plan for a separate army air service, similar in organization to the navy's marine corps. The bill will be ready in a few days and the committee expects to call Col. William Mitchell and many other aviation authorities, including, perhaps, Dwight Morrow, chairman of the president's air board, to testify on the measure.

A Light Street Shoe that Fits Easily

A Pretty and Practical
Design Developed in Patent and Quaker Brown

$10

The illustration probably suggests to you that this new street model fits well, because of the two straps and high arch. That is quite true. Also, lightly welted soles give you a walking type that wears real well without having to carry around the usual weight.

It is made of Patent Leather and Quaker Brown Kid, touched with stitching to relieve the severity of the finish. Covered Cuban heels.

This model stands high in our estimation of the latest street shoes.

SHORT COURSE SESSIONS FOR BEEKEEPERS OPENED

Discussion of legislative matters, concerning the bee business in Southern California, and a speech by Kenneth Hawkins, of Watertown, Wis., on "The Family Skeleton of the Honey Crop," featured the first session of the beekeepers' short course, which opened today in the Frances Willard junior high school auditorium.

The short course, which attracted several hundred Southern California apiarists and their wives, is being sponsored by the U. S. department of agriculture, the University of California, the National Honey Producers' league, the California State Beekeepers' association and the Orange County Farm bureau.

The address of welcome was delivered by Roy Bishop, chairman of the beekeepers' department of the Orange County Farm bureau. A few remarks, in regard to the bee business, in general, were made by Prof. H. B. Herms, of the University of California.

Short Resume Given
C. W. Hartman, chairman of the board of managers of the California State Beekeepers' association, gave a short resume of the short course held last week in Chico. At the Chico meeting, Mr. Hartman said, there was considerable discussion of the tendency among California cities to tax honey producers for selling their product to stores. He suggested that the matter would be a proper subject for a resolution.

Hartman said that the association had waged a successful campaign in all California cities but one against the restrictions upon the keeping of bees within corporate limits of cities.

Lester Bamberger, of Riverside, was named chairman of a committee to draw up a resolution concerning proposed legislation in regard to inter-state shipment of diseased honey. C. Wirth, of Los Angeles, and C. L. Bell, of Orange, were named chairman of the committee with him.

J. O. Andrews, of Corona, was named chairman of a committee to send letters of condolence to the families of those beekeepers who died during 1925.

C. Schirm, of Los Angeles, was named chairman of a committee to draw up a resolution seeking the co-operation of citrus growers in using spray that will not kill bees. Roy Bishop was named on the committee with him.

Hartman read a telegram announcing the death, in Oakland, last night, of J. A. Howard, secretary, last year, of the state association.

More Talks Scheduled
This afternoon the beekeepers were to hear Dr. James I. Hambleton, of Washington, D. C., discuss "The Work of the Bee Culture Laboratory." "Queen Rearing Simplified" was the subject assigned to Jay Smith, of Vincennes, Ind. M. C. Richter, of Monterey, A. K. Whidden, of San Jacinto, and Reese Powell, of Riverside, also were scheduled to make speeches.

T. O. Andrews, of Corona, J. E. Pleasants, of Orange, M. H. Medelson, of Ventura, George J. Brown, of Tustin, and George B. Dickerson, of El Cajon, are on the evening's program, which will begin at 7:30. G. H. Vansell, of the University of California, will speak tonight on "The California Buckeye and Its Relation to the Hive Bee."

The short course will be concluded Thursday afternoon.

Four Tires Stolen By Garage Thieves

Thieves, who broke into the garage of Dr. Will A. Flood, 1302 North Main street, sometime last night, stole four automobile tires from Dr. Flood's machine, according to a report made at the police station today.

The tires were valued at approximately $200, it was said. Two of the tires were taken from the wheels of the machine and the other two from a spare tire rack, police reported.

Entrance into the garage was made by unlocking the front door.

Farm Relief Is Before Congress

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Farm relief legislation came up on the floor of congress today for the first time this session.

The house took up the administration bill, introduced by Chairman Haughen, of the agriculture committee, to create a division of co-operative marketing in the agricultural department.

President Coolidge and Secretary Jardine joined in advancing this measure as the only step the government can take to relieve the plight of the farmers of the west.

CHECK ARTIST SUSPECT HELD BY OFFICIALS

Suspected of passing several worthless checks in Orange county during the last several days, a man, giving his name as James Freeman, 34, native of Redding, Calif., is being held by Huntington Beach officials.

According to a statement made by Sid Smithwick, assistant city marshal of Santa Ana, the man confessed to him today that he had stolen a number of blank bank checks from the office of Steele Finley, Santa Ana contractor, and that he had cashed several of them.

Freeman was arrested in Huntington Beach last night by Jack Tinsley, chief of police of that city, after he is alleged to have attempted to cash a check there for $35. The check was one of the ones taken from the Finley office, it was said.

Tinsley, with his prisoner, went to Orange at noon today, the man declaring that he would point out to officers the business houses where he passed three checks, two days ago.

Tinsley intimated that the man would be charged with forgery, burglary or passing fictitious checks.

KERR SUIT TO BE DECIDED BY JUDGE MARKS

The suit of Dr. Franklin Kerr, Garden Grove, to cancel a deed, transferring his property to Rush Meadows, ex-attorney, of Hollywood, was taken under advisement by Superior Judge E. J. Marks late yesterday, following the trial.

The deed has passed from Meadows to other hands and the defense to Dr. Kerr's suit was made by Mrs. A. Charnion Conley, who claims to be the wife of Meadows, and by Emil Tietjen, of Los Angeles, Tietjen, who still claims an interest in the deed, made the principal defense.

Meadows and Dr. Kerr are facing criminal prosecution. Dr. Kerr having been convicted of sending poisoned candy through the mails and Meadows being charged with possession of narcotics and other offenses. Dr. Kerr has an appeal from his conviction pending.

It was just after his arrest in Los Angeles that Meadows came to him, he testified, and representing himself as an emissary from Cooper, Collins and Shreve, Dr. Kerr's attorneys. Meadows, it was said, induced Dr. Kerr to deed the property to him so that he might raise bail for Dr. Kerr's release from jail, and also prevent Dr. Kerr's financial ruin in litigation that Meadows said Mrs. Kerr was contemplating.

Meadows did not procure Dr. Kerr's release and did not defend him from his criminal charge, Dr. Kerr testified.

Mrs. Conley, testifying yesterday, said that she had married Meadows in Tijuana but was planning a suit to annul the marriage. She had received the deed from Meadows, she said, but assigned it to another person, a friend, who she thought had a better chance to collect money from Meadows than she did.

Attorney Hug L. Dickson headed Dr. Kerr's counsel at the trial. Scarborough, Forgy and Reinhaus, Santa Ana, represented Tietjen.

Dr. Blythe, Dentist

I am rapidly recovering my right mind!

IN FACT I will have completely recovered from my recent brain storm by Sunday evening at 5:30.

I have sold as much property as I care to sell at my present ridiculously low prices and terms. The response to my sensational lot offer has been more than gratifying, but common business judgment compels me to call a halt on practically giving this property away. In justice to those who have seen the property, but have not gotten around to complete their purchase I make the following announcement:

WEDNESDAY EVENING, JANUARY 27TH AT 5:30 I WILL POSITIVELY DISCONTINUE GIVING 10% DISCOUNT
OFF THE PURCHASE PRICE OF LOTS.

SUNDAY EVENING, JANUARY 31ST AT 5:30 I WILL POSITIVELY DISCONTINUE SELLING THIS PROPERTY WITH NO CASH DOWN!

These special features will be discontinued on the days and hours I have set and I don't mean maybe! They will be gone for good, as far as this property is concerned! The terms beginning next Monday morning will be 5% cash and the balance payable $15 per month including all interest.

For those who are not familiar with the property, here is some brief data concerning it: Beautiful, level residential lots, size 49x125 feet, located in the pathway of Santa Ana's growth to the sea, about 20 blocks south of Fourth street on South Main, partially built up with beautiful homes, all improvements in and paid for, including water, gas, electricity, sidewalks, curbs, shade trees and PAVEMENT. The prices will stand comparison with any equally located and improved property in Santa Ana.

[These lots may be purchased up to Sunday evening with no cash down. Up to tomorrow evening they may be purchased with no cash down and 10% discount off purchase price.]

Death Notices

A WORD OF COMFORT
Stop wasting your time and energy in attempting by man-made methods to receive communications from the spirit-world. Those who have passed on into Paradise can not descend to tawdry methods of speaking to us in the terms of our earthly senses.
It is for us to become as one with them in humble and whole-hearted devotion to the Master's precious purposes. As you live into that endeavor you shall feel your growing nearness to your dear ones, who live with Him.

VAN HORN—At her home, 815 North Artesia street, Jan. 26, 1926, Mrs. Selma E. Van Horn, aged 33 years, wife of W. E. Van Horn. Funeral services will be held at a date to be announced later by Smith and Tuttle.

DOYLE'S ERROR

LONDON, Jan. 26.—Sir Arthur Conan Doyle admits the "mistake of his life." "At one theater, where Sherlock Holmes was being played, a boy, in the role of page attacked my attention," Sir Arthur recently said, in an address before the Savage club. "I should have made a fortune if I had said to that boy 'We will go half and half on whatever we make for all the rest of our lives.' The boy was Charlie Chaplin."

An American housewife's average yearly expenditure for clothes is $83.50, according to an inquiry conducted by the United States department of labor.

Court Notes

Alleges "Other Woman"
That there was an "other woman" in the life of Edward L. Olmstead, former president of the First National bank, of Brea, who recently sued his wife, Agnes J. Olmstead, for divorce, was charged in Mrs. Olmstead's cross complaint, on file in Los Angeles county superior court today.

Hearing Again Continued
The county supervisors today again continued hearing on the proposal to form road improvement district No. 46, including Capistrano Beach. The hearing has been continued from time to time for several months. Today it was postponed to February 9.

Boundaries Approved
The county supervisors today approved of the boundaries for the proposed Garden Grove water works district No. 3, when today's hearing on the matter produced no further protests against the boundary lines. The petition had been held over for several weeks to permit revision of the boundaries. At the meeting, next Tuesday, the supervisors are scheduled to fix a date for an election on the proposal to form the district and to issue $50,000 in bonds for the purchase of two local water companies, the Garden Grove City Water company and the Home Tract Water company.

Mrs. Ellura A. Plotner, who died in Orange, January 10, left her estate, valued at $10,500, to her two children, Nars W. Hunter, of Orange, and Gertrude Boyd, of Los Angeles. It was shown today in her will, filed for probate in superior court, A. E. Koepsel, Orange attorney, filed the probate petition. Koepsel was nominated as executor of the will.

WOMEN WIN AGAIN
LONDON, Jan. 26.—Woman finally has been admitted to the only branch of sport from which she had definitely been denied. A recent action of the National Cyclists' union has admitted women as eligible to entrance in bicycle races. The union still forbids races of women against men, however, limits the length of the races and prescribes a costume, to "ensure strict propriety."

HAMILTON NEW PRESIDENT OF STUDENT BODY

Election results at the Santa Ana polytechnic high school, yesterday gave Warren Hamilton the student body presidency and marked the defeat of the strongest campaign ever waged for placing a girl in the high office.

Hamilton was pressed strongly enough to make the outcome uncertain until the last returns were counted.

The campaign staged by the "Modernists" was in the interests of Evelyn Yount, outstanding girl leader and athlete. For more than a month, the issues have been alive. The Modernists made an appeal for "fair and impartial selection" solely on qualifications.

Overthrow Attempt Fails
Never once in the history of the Santa Ana polytechnic high school has a girl been elected to the student body presidency. This year, however, a strong effort was made to overthrow convention.

Three candidates were in the race for president. Results gave Hamilton 355 votes, Evelyn Yount, 224 votes, and George Decker, 26.

All the elective offices open at the mid-year were decided except the vice presidency, for which a revote will be necessary between Mary Jane Owens and Ralph White. Robert McKean was eliminated from the competition.

Virginia Brannon obtained a huge vote over the combined poll of Marie Tomlinson and Wallace Grebe. She received 434 votes to 111 for Grebe and 55 for Miss Tomlinson.

For the girls, Miss Gayle Baldwin and Miss Helen Battey were chosen as representatives on the governing board. Gerald Twist and Arthur Norman will serve for the boys.

Approve Sweater Awards
Along with the balloting, an amendment was approved to give sweaters to all graduating lettermen who do not receive football Ariel sweaters.

Inauguration of the new student body officers will be conducted at the high school assembly at 9:45 o'clock Thursday morning. At that time, Allen McDermott, retiring student body president, will turn over the gavel to Hamilton.

During the last semester, Hamilton was president of the senior class. During his high school career, he has been commissioner of athletics and a football and track athlete.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL AFTER AUTO CRASH

Andrew Sorg, Los Angeles man, was taken to the Oceanside hospital last yesterday afternoon, suffering from injuries received when an automobile, which he was driving, collided with a machine driven by A. B. Haven, Flower and Edinger street, Santa Ana, according to a report filed at the sheriff's office today by Haven.

Haven reported that the Sorg machine side-swiped a loaded truck, standing on the highway, before striking his machine. The accident occurred one mile south of Galivan, on the San Diego highway.

The extent of Sorg's injuries were not learned.

Police News

Thirteen blank bank checks have been stolen from the office of Steele Finley, contractor, according to a report made by him to police yesterday. Finley believes the checks were forged and cashed. The checks are numbered from 28412 to 28425.

C. H. Ryan, 1648 West Fourth street, reported to police yesterday that 15 bales of hay owned by him were stolen from a Southern Pacific freight car, in Santa Ana, yesterday. A man seen loitering near the car is sought by officers.

A suitcase containing two suits of clothing, two pairs of shoes and a green overcoat was stolen from the caboose of a freight train on the Santa Fe tracks here last night, according to a report made to officers. The suitcase was taken while the train stood across Fruit street. It was reported.

Glenn Henney, 23, charged with disturbing the peace, was lodged in the county jail last night by Seal Beach officers. The man was arrested there.

Julius Sutter, 22, and Y. A. Armstrong, 19, charged with vagrancy, were arrested yesterday by Jack Coombs, deputy sheriff.

Every Girls Club

Friendliness and charm emanated from the birthday party of Every Girls' club held yesterday afternoon at the Frances Willard junior high school. The party was in honor of the fifth anniversary of the club that had been founded at the Frances Willard school by Mrs. Iva Wemmer and had been continued there by Mrs. Edith Thatcher after the junior high schools were divided and Mrs. Webber had become dean of girls at the Julia C. Lathrop school. A delightful program was presented by Mrs. Webber announcing each number. The program opened with community singing led by Miss Edith Cornell after which the flag salute was given, also led by Miss Cornell. Prayer was offered by Mrs. F. T. Porter, after which Miss Mary Clafon gave a musical reading, Oscar Wilde's "The Selfish Giant" which was presented in a most charming manner. Miss Prudence Macomber read "The Other Wise Man" which is always loved by all who hear it and which was enhanced by her beautiful interpretation.

Miss Virginia Pope sang "La Golondrina" in a lovely manner.

At this point, an interesting feature was a short talk given by each of the former presidents who were present. These presidents were: Miss Lorene Porter, Miss Margaret Grebe and Miss Edith Breckenridge; then Mrs. Thatcher made a short talk because it was after Miss Breckenridge's term as president that the two schools separated becoming twins. Mrs. Thatcher explained, in order to show the fellowship existing between the two schools: Miss Evelyn Yount, Miss Mary Jane Owens, Miss Josephine Ball, Miss Ida Mae Brady, Miss Clara Kate Owens, Miss Evelyn Dysart and Miss Bernice Corbett were the remaining presidents to speak.

Miss Peggy Warburton, accompanied by Miss Margery Walton, played a violin solo during which the surprise of the party was given. As Miss Waterman played softly, the little Misses Louise and Barbara Rurup, a pair of twins, expressing for the symbolism voiced by Mrs. Thatcher in calling the schools twins, came upon the stage bearing between them a huge white birthday cake on which were a number of blue candles for Frances E. Willard and green ones for Julia C. Lathrop. Each president lit a candle to symbolize the light cast by the club upon the world. Then to the tune of a march played by Miss Evelyn Hunton amidst much applause, Mrs. Webber cut the cake serving it to the presidents, past and present, the officers, past and present, then to every girl who was there.

Make 1926 "Thrift Year!"

We Give Two Kinds of Interest —Personal and 4%

"Thrift Week," last week, was full of too many good and practical things to confine to one week. If a budget, a pay-your-bills-day, an Insurance Day, a Savings Day, are good for "Thrift Week," their real test is in their observance over a longer period.

A Savings Account started during Thrift Week doesn't begin to be of great value intrinsically until deposits have been made REGULARLY over a period of months. It IS something to START—but more to "carry on."

Let us keep our Savings Accounts up to schedule—finish what we started—then we will know the real meaning of the slogan "Success and Happiness."

SHERIFF MAKES RUG BURGLAR'S VICTIMS HAPPY

With Sheriff Sam Jernigan acting as host, the Orange county jail today was the scene of a large reception. The guests were Orange county persons, whose homes had been robbed by the "rug burglar," and the purpose of the gathering was for the victims to recover their belongings.

A constant stream of persons poured into the jail during the early morning hours and article after article was identified, signed for and carried away.

It was the most unique reception held in the jail since it was opened. Persons came in an expectant mood and went away with content written on their faces and their arms were full of rugs, radios, clothing, jewelry and other articles taken by the rug burglar during his career of crime in Orange county, since Nov. 21, 1925.

Rugs Spread on Floor

About 20 rugs were spread out on the floor of the jail court when the visitors began to arrive this morning. Shotguns were stacked in one corner and several improvised tables held thousands of dollars worth of jewelry and other valuables.

Three clothes lines were stretched across the court. On one hung approximately 15 suits of clothes and overcoats. On another, about 50 shirts were stretched. The third held ties, socks, raincoats and women's wearing apparel. Most of the recovered loot had been identified by noon today.

James Wilton, 19, who hails from Kentucky and who has admitted that he is the rug burglar and that he looted homes because he thought he was playing a good prank on the officers, today was arraigned on three burglary charges in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court.

His examining trial was set for 9 a. m., February 4.

Faces Three Complaints

Three complaints faced Wilton when he entered court this morning. Dressed in blue overalls and in a jovial mood, the rug burglar was as calm and unconcerned as any of the spectators, who had gathered to see him.

The three complaints concerned the robbing of the homes of E. Kalliey, two miles south of the Katella road; John Wents, Garden Grove road and Orangewood avenue, and B. Schroeder, Placentia road, near Anaheim.

The three complaints were signed by Ed McClellan, chief criminal deputy sheriff.

MANY PRESENT AT RADER SERVICES

More than 1200 persons were present at the Four Square Gospel tabernacle, last night, to hear the internationally famous evangelist, Paul Rader, of Chicago.

It was the evangelist's first address in Santa Ana and he will speak here again before returning to Chicago. For the next three months he will act as pastor of Angelus temple, Los Angeles, during the absence of Almee Semple McPherson now on a tour of the British Isles and the Holy Land.

Rader's address last night, told the story of his life since he entered the evangelistic work 13 years ago.

Mrs. Minnie Kennedy spoke briefly, telling how the Four Square gospel movement originated on a farm in Canada more than 30 years ago.

The Silver band, of 40 members, from the temple played a number of hymns. The choir was assisted by Mrs. Roepke, Helen Van Antwerp and Evangelist Florence Glauser.

FOREIGN RADIO RECEPTION IMPOSSIBLE HERE IN SPITE OF PERFECT AIR CONDITIONS

Although the air, Monday night, was clear of static growls, Santa Ana radio fans, who attempted to tune in on European and South American stations, broadcasting special programs in celebration of International Radio Test week, were unable to pick up any of the programs, a canvass of radio experts disclosed today.

Despite the failure to pick up the foreign stations Sunday and Monday nights, a large number of enthusiastic radio "bugs" will fish again tonight and the remainder of the week, it was indicated.

Several amateurs picked up Honolulu last night, but that fact is not rare, it was pointed out, and conditions last night were especially good for the reception of the island station.

L. E. Lashley, 304 East Third street, operating an eight-tube set, reported to W. E. Ashford that he had picked up CKAC, La Presse, Montreal, Canada, last night, but could not bring in any of the powerful English, Norwegian or German stations.

Santa Ana is bothered with a peculiar radio bugaboo early in the evening, according to many amateurs. This noise is particularly troublesome with moderate static and strong over station KNX and resembles the noise of a miniature landslide. The origin of this maelstrom of noise has not been determined.

RADIO RECEPTION IN U. S. IS NEGLIGIBLE

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Monday night's reception of European radio program was practically negligible in North America, the Radio week committee announced today. Although Lima and Buenos Aires were heard with moderate success in the east and middle west, large crashes of static and code interference prevented European waves from penetrating through to America.

The SOS calls last night, which resulted in clearing the air, from 7:15 p. m. until 10:45 p. m., along the Atlantic coast, also were responsible for a great volume of static radio being turned loose as the SOS was lifted. The code continued throughout the test periods.

OAX, Lima, and LOW and LOX, Buenos Aires, broadcast programs from 10 p. m., eastern time, to midnight, taking advantage of the general American silence, and were heard especially well in New England and New Jersey. Reports from Boston and Marblehead, Mass., to the committee, indicated that three South American stations were tuned in and held almost all night.

Coast Stations Idle

The Pacific coast representative of the Radio Week committee wired that not a single Pacific coast station could be heard after 8 p. m., Pacific coast time, despite the fact that several ran past signing off time the previous night.

Operators in the Belfast, Me., receiving station of the Radio Corporation of America report reception of the South American programs. A Buenos Aires station was tuned in at 11:50 p. m., eastern standard time, and held until 12:15 a. m. A very weak carrier wave from Europe, on approximately 330 meters, was tuned in, but audible modulation was impossible, according to the operators' report.

INDIFFERENT RESULTS REPORTED IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—Radio fans of Chicago and adjacent territory today reported indifferent results from last night's international radio tests. Conditions in this area were poor, it was stated.

A few of the fans were successful. J. R. Maney, Chicago, reported hearing station SBR, in Brussels, broadcasting the Belgian national anthem, at 10:10. One of the fans reported hearing OSLO, sending from OSLO, Norway, from 10:37 to 10:47. Charles Schnell said he heard station ESC, Glasgow, Scotland, at 10:14. Station 2LO, London, was heard by several fans.

BROADCASTING RESULTS DISAPPOINT ENGLISH

LONDON, Jan. 26.—American broadcasting early today, (European time) in the International Radio week, proved again a disappointment to English and continental radio fans, who arose before dawn in the hope of getting United States and South American stations.

Conditions for the test were bad. Static interfered with reception and discouraged many fans from continuing their efforts to search out a foreign station. Those who did persist were unaware of the tragedy of the seas, which had caused American Atlantic stations to shut down for 2-12 hours last night and they were rewarded partially for their continued efforts.

Reports Hearing KDKA

W. J. T. Crewe, English amateur, reported hearing station KDKA, the Westinghouse station, in Pittsburgh, faintly, although he said the air was "jammed" with static.

A Berlin message to the United Press reported that the government radio station had picked up WGY, the General Electric company station, in Schenectady, but up to noon no amateurs had reported hearing anything from America.

Brussels reported that eight-tube sets were able to pick up stations in the neighborhood of Panama, but were unable to identify them definitely, because of much interference.

MEDAL FOR GREATEST DISTANCE IS OFFERED

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 26.—A gold medal is offered by station LOY here to the amateur establishing the greatest distance record for reception of its Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday night special programs on a 215 meter wave length, starting at 11:15 p. m., New York time.

TWO SUBMIT PROOF OF RECEPTION

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 26.—Only two western radio fans reported hearing broadcasts on the International Radio week programs have had sufficient backing to entitle their submission to the international committee, it was said here today.

J. L. Lewis, Truckee, Calif., merchant, submitted proof of hearing LOX, Buenos Aires.

Another fan reported an organ and choir concert from 2BD, Aberdeen, Scotland, Sunday night, but

ORANGE COUNTY DELEGATION TO VISIT DAM SITE

Orange county will send a large delegation of representative men on the automobile excursion, next week, to Boulder canyon and Black canyon, on the Colorado river, according to a statement made today by Harold E. Wahlberg, farm advisor.

The excursion is being arranged jointly by farm bureaus and chambers of commerce of Southern California, and it is expected that all of the active chambers and farm centers in the Southland will be represented.

Wahlberg said today that assurance had been given that engineers would accompany the party and present details of the Boulder dam project, so that everyone on the trip will get full information on the dam sites and on the project for storing waters of the river.

According to present plans, men going from Southern California will assemble at the Elks club, San Bernardino, in time to depart from there at 6:30 Sunday morning for Las Vegas, Nev., by way of Victorville, Barstow, Daggett, Silver Lake and Zion Park trail, arriving in Las Vegas at 6:30 p. m.

A visit to the Boulder dam site will be made Monday and to the Black canyon site Tuesday. Members of the party will be guests, Tuesday night, at a banquet, arranged by the Las Vegas Chamber of Commerce.

Residents of Santa Ana who may want to go on the inspection trip should notify Wahlberg, so that transportation plans may be made.

ATTORNEY ATTENDS PHONE RATE MEET

Z. B. West Jr., city attorney, was in Los Angeles today, attending a called meeting of the League of California Municipalities, the purpose of the meeting being to bring the cities into united action in demanding lower telephone rates. Los Angeles is to be made the battlefield for the fight for lower rates throughout the state, it was understood here.

According to telegraphic reports from Los Angeles, 40 Southern California cities were represented at the conference, the meeting being presided over by H. L. Moody, of San Diego, president of the league. Speaking at the conference, Moody asserted that rates in Los Angeles are 25 per cent higher than those in New York and 50 per cent higher than in Chicago.

"The only way Southern California communities can obtain relief from the intolerable situation is to make an exhaustive study of every phase of the rate problem and then go before the state railroad commission with the facts," he said.

A conference of representatives of cities of the northern section of the League of California Municipalities is to be held Thursday, in San Francisco, Moody announced. The co-operation of northern cities in the phone rate war is to be solicited at that time.

BISCUITS FOR KINGS

LONDON, Jan. 26.—Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Romary of Tunbridge Wells, have just celebrated their diamond wedding anniversary. Mr. Romary is inventor of the Tunbridge Wells water biscuits, for which he holds the royal warrant. In 1872 he received an order for biscuits from Queen Victoria, whom he supplied for 30 years. He also has supplied the ex-kaiser, the late czar of Russia and the late emperor of Australia.

Sour Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia"
Better than Soda

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges sour waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent bottles, any drug store.—Adv.

Fights and Fighters

NEW YORK—James J. Corbett, former world's heavyweight champion, denied that he had challenged any 60-year-old man in the world to meet him in the ring. "I'm through with boxing for all time," he said in laughing at the report that a 73-year-old Idaho farmer wanted to fight him.

NEW YORK—When Johnny Dundee, veteran former featherweight champion, enters the ring in Garden Friday night against Young Joe Glick, New York junior lightweight, he will be engaged in his 343rd ring battle in 16 years.

Make old age more comfortable

OLD age is not a matter of years alone. Many folks feel younger at 70 than others at 60. Too many old folks are worried with backache, rheumatic pains and kidney irregularities. At such times a stimulant diuretic is helpful. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are recommended by thousands of elderly folks. Are endorsed here at home. Ask your neighbor!

Here's a Santa Ana Case:

William McGreevy, retired deputy sheriff, 111 East First street, says: "I had pains just over my kidneys. I had to get up often at night to pass the kidney secretions. I had headaches, too. Four boxes of Doan's Pills from Rowley's Drug Store relieved the pains in my back and the other symptoms left."

Dramatic Reading and Music Give Pleasure To Club Members

ANY guests shared the pleasure of Business and Professional women in an entertaining program presented last night at St. Ann's Inn in connection with the January social meeting of the service club—a dinner served at 7 o'clock.

Arriving members and their guests were greeted by Miss Justine Whitney, chairman of the social committee of the month, and the club president, Miss Martha Whitson. In the dining-room where chicken roasted to a toothsome turn, formed the main dish of a four course dinner, the group plan of table arrangement prevailed.

Each table presented a color harmony of its own, with nut-cups of the same tint as the central decoration, the latter varying from colored tapers with tulle bows in vivid crystal candlesticks, to baskets of flowers over which, but not to be overlooked, the general effect was brilliant and colorful and established a delightful note for the evening.

The dinner hour was enlivened by club songs directed by Freda Moesser Barger and with one of the guests, Miss Lizzetta Phillips, at the piano. Introduction of guests and roll call formed other lively features, and the latter brought forth many a funny story and many a new year resolution in bad state of repair. The president, Miss Whitson, then introduced a visiting service club president, her brother, W. V. Whitson, of Kiwanis club, who gave a friendly little talk to the sister club, suggesting fuller co-operation between the two.

Following the dinner hour, the guests remained seated at the tables for a musical program which opened with xylophone solos by Miss Lizzetta Phillips and Mrs. S. Briggs as her accompanist. The talented young xylophonist chose widely varying numbers, opening with a stirring American march. This was followed by a selection of totally different theme, a Chinese dance, "Yuki," whose odd rhythms and peculiar accents were most oriental. As an encore, Miss Phillips played Carrie Jacobs Bond's "Perfect Day," offering yet another contrast and showing the ease with which she was able to express varying themes and emotions with an unusual musical instrument.

Miss Dorothea Smith opened a vocal group with Sanderson's "Break of Day" with its lyrical invitation. Musical "Phyllis Is My Only Joy" followed as an encore number, and later in the evening Miss Smith sang another short group, "Beauty," which was Lohr's musical setting to John Massfield's verse and the amusing little "Tale of a Stocking." Her sweet voice seemed beautifully adapted to the dainty lyrics chosen and a delightful musical background was offered by Miss Elizabeth Parslow at the piano.

Miss Parslow completed the musical part of the program with a group of brilliantly played piano numbers beginning with Manna Zucca's "Valse Brillante," which proved to be quite all that its name indicated as it was interspersed with the young pianist, one of the most talented and capable in the city. The "Aeolian Harp Etude" of Chopin was the second enjoyable number and during an interlude when Miss Louise Kaiser distributed the famous Business and Professional Women's cook books, Miss Parslow played gay and popular numbers.

Repairing to the lobby and gathering around the fire blazing in friendly fashion on the hearth, the guests enjoyed the final delightful feature of the evening, a play read by Mrs. Robert Horn, one of the city's most pleasing readers. Mrs. Horn chose Virginia Church's play, "What Men Live By," based on the Tolstol story. In absolute silence, her audience followed the unravelling of the plot, as she enacted the eight or more roles in turn. Her characterizations were admirable. Voice inflection and timbre indicated the change from character to character until it was almost as though one saw Simon the cobbler, Matrina, his wife, Anna, the talkative, light-minded widow, Michael, the mysterious stranger, the Baron, the little devil, guardian angel, and little children of the drama. Mrs. Horn's dramatic ability is one of the most delightful evenings the Business Women have enjoyed.

Those present for the dinner and program included Olive Lopez, Amelia A. Meagher, Ray W. Chase, Mrs. E. L. Bryant, Mayme Brightwell, Alice V. Wasser, Mrs. Cora Swind, Mary N. Hilliard, Lula B. Ott, Myrtle Meyer, Phoebe Marshall, Nancy Marshall, Gail Finley, Kathleen Owens, Nancy Elder, Doris Robbins, Lena Thomas, Ethel O. Briggs, Lizzetta B. Phillips, Helene Kubitz, Clara B. Cooke, Bess K. Mrs. Winslow Greets Congenial Guests At Breakfast

ONE of the charming affairs of the week's social calendar was the smart breakfast given yesterday at the beautiful new home of Mr. and Mrs. Winslow at 1914 North Main street where Mrs. Winslow was joined in friendly hostess duties by Mrs. Lloyd A. Chenoweth.

Gathering at high noon, the accepted hour for smart breakfasts, the guests found one long table, beautifully appointed, awaiting them in the artistic dining-room where Mrs. Winslow plans to center her entertaining, having already presented two large dinners since having so recently taken possession of the new home.

Prominent in the table decorations was a beautiful old silver standard, a family heirloom which was given position of honor in the center of the table. The crystal pieces of the standard were embellished with hand-painted designs setting the keynote of the color harmony selected by the hostess and sounded further in twinkling candles, dainty place cards and the fragrant carnations which, combined with waxen hyacinths, offered floral charm.

After each succeeding course of the delectable breakfast had been enjoyed, the guests left the hospitable board to assemble in the drawing room around small card tables for an interesting session of bridge. Mrs. John W. Tubbs and Mrs. George L. Chapman captured the handsome trophies offered by Mrs. Winslow. Over a score of guests were entertained.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

In order to avoid any conflict with the dates selected for the February Community Players production of "The Dover Road," the Players association will meet at The Barn next Thursday night instead of the first Thursday of the month as is the custom. Mrs. John Cloyes and her February company will present the program of one play and music and one of the pleasantest evenings of the series is anticipated. The usual refreshments of coffee and sandwiches will be served, with each member bringing sandwiches. Those who have not yet paid their dues are asked to remember "dooseroo."

Scheduled to meet Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Ebell clubhouse, the arts and crafts section of the society will hear Mrs. Jack Olivari, arts and crafts chairman of the county federation, who will speak on her duties and exhibit the collection of artistic articles with which she hopes to found a permanent exhibit for the county federation. The section will also recognize for a continuation of the work interrupted by the press of the Christmas season. Miss Effie Douglas, section leader, will preside.

The south section of the Ladies Aid of the First Methodist Episcopal church will meet Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. H. Thompson, 711 South Sycamore street.

The W. C. T. U. of Tustin will meet Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Philip Ebel. The subject will be "Scientific Temperance Instruction."

The university study section of Ebells society will meet Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. E. M. Nealley will speak on "The Problem of Evil as Presented by Browning, Tennyson and Others."

The southwest section of the Ladies Aid of the First Presbyterian church will meet Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at the home of Miss Lottie Palmer, 302 South Broadway. Members are requested to come prepared to sew.

Promising an extremely entertaining program and an appetizing luncheon at St. Ann's Inn, the members of the Santa Ana Women's club expect many guests to share their birthday party with them Tuesday, February 2. Mrs. Herbert M. Sammis will speak on Americanization, illustrating her theme with songs of various nations. Other entertaining features will be offered and altogether the event promises to be one of the most interesting of club annuals. Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock and reservations may be made through the entertainment committee.

Musical Talent Gives Pleasant Afternoon At Ebell Club

ANNOUNCEMENT that Ebells January program was to offer two such notable artists as Ione Tunison Peek and Marie Bishop in joint recital, attracted such a crowd of music lovers to the clubhouse yesterday, as has not been in evidence for many moons. Guest tickets were honored and the chairman of the hospitality committee declared that never have so many guests been present except on the rare occasions of open meetings.

But it was generally agreed that the program was a memorable one and worthy of being heard by a packed house. It marked the first appearance in public recital of Mrs. Peek since her return from a summer of musical study abroad, and the sternest critics were agreed that the pianist's work was riper, richer and more colorful than ever, as a result of her foreign studies. Mrs. Bishop, who also is a product of American schools ripened and enriched by study under the best of European teachers during a period in the Old World, is one of the city's favorite as well as one of its sweetest singers.

Her work is always richly satisfying, her voice being unusually pure and sweet in addition to having received perfect training. Her numbers yesterday were well chosen to show the range of her voice both in tone production and in expression.

Mrs. Peek's piano work was indeed remarkable. Always noted for her technique, her playing has seemed to gain in depth, strength and vividness. She varied the most modern of compositions with those of earlier date until all musical tastes were satisfied.

The program opened with a Galuppi "Sonata" of the eighteenth century, continued with "Dumka" by Tchaikowsky and concluded with a Debussy number, "Poissens d'Or." In response to enthusiastic applause, Mrs. Peek played the scintillating little "Knitting Needles."

Following her group, Mrs. Bishop presented three numbers, "There Sits a Bird on Every Tree" (Arthur Foot); a selection which Mrs. Peek had brought here from France, an arrangement of one of her teachers, Jacques Pills, of an old French song, "Le Naturel" by Destouches, and the celebrated "Il est Doux, il est Bon" from Massenet's "Ferdinand."

Mrs. Bishop was recalled again and again and finally responded with "At Her Window" by Bishop.

Mrs. Peek then gave a Suite by Tchaikowsky, well designed to illustrate her versatility as the different numbers embraced a "Marche," "Chant sans paroles," "Berceuse," "Scherzo," "Badinage," and "Humoresque," all differing radically in mood, phrasing, color and interpretation. A Chopin Scherzo, Opus 39, followed and the audience was still loth to allow the brilliant pianist to leave the stage so she returned to the piano to give a delightful Arensky "Prelude."

Ebells February programs will maintain the same high standard set by January, and a business meeting on Monday February 8, Lady Adams, wife of the noted British educator, Sir John Adams, will talk on "Austria, New Zealand and Tasmania from a Woman's Viewpoint." Music by a string quartette will also be featured. On Monday, February 22, Gutzon Borglum, famous American sculptor, will lecture. Mr. Borglum designed the well-known Confederate Memorial for Stone Mountain, Georgia, and his interest for Santa Anans will be heightened by the fact that he at one time made this city his home for several years. In fact one of the down-town buildings bears a bust of his workmanship crowning the fire wall and outlined boldly against the sky for those who lift their eyes to see. The head surmounts the parapet directly above the Curtis Barber shop.

It is said that radio telephone communication across the Atlantic, with the same privacy as present long distance telephone communication will be developed.

January Wedding Was Surprise to Many Local Friends

Mr. Garfield, son of the A. J. Garfields prominent Orange county family residing at Balboa, and Miss Fellows, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Fellows of Pasadena, maintained the strictest secrecy regarding their plans, and the quiet wedding rites conducted by the Rev. Moffett Rhodes, pastor of Spurgeon Memorial church, were unattended by either relatives or friends. The young people left at once on a short honeymoon trip, but are now established in this city at 315 Jackson Court on West Fourth street, where they are greeting their friends and being showered with friendly wishes.

Mr. Garfield is connected with the Reliance Title company. His bride is a graduate of Drury college in Missouri and will be a pleasant addition to the city's university set.

Country Club Will Celebrate Anniversaries

Just one year ago, members of Santa Ana Country club met to celebrate with feasting and merriment, the formal opening of their handsome new club home. On Thursday night, the first anniversary of that event—a highly important one in the city's social life—will be celebrated in much the same manner, for club members will meet to dine and dance the evening hours away.

And as they make merry, it will be with a full appreciation of all the advantages which they have enjoyed during the year with the widely varied resources of the club at their disposal. Especially popular has been the golf course where the city's "tired business men" have relaxed and enjoyed their favorite pursuit. And now the course, which was opened to the members a few weeks in advance of the opening of the clubhouse, is being patronized enthusiastically by many women players. So popular is the sport among feminine members that a new committee has been appointed and Thursday set aside as regular ladies' golfing day. Mrs. Hugh Shields heads the committee with Mrs. John L. Wheeler and Mrs. Jesse Goodman as members. They plan to arrange some interesting women's tournaments for the early spring.

Such outdoor delights available to clubmembers, have an equally pleasant indoor phase in the social life made up of luncheons, teas, dinners and evening affairs with cards and dancing as leading amusements. In the year since its opening, the club has proven its value in the social life of the city, for aside from the social life incidental general club affairs have been countless smart functions presented by hostesses to coteries of their friends.

All these features are called to mind by the announcement of the anniversary festivities Thursday night. At that time members alone will have the privileges of the club and will be guests at a formal dinner preliminary to the evening's dancing. It will also mark the formal dedication of the new dining-room, for the big arcade which overlooked the greens, has been converted into a dining-room to supplement the grill and leave the ball room a little freer for its main purpose—dancing.

Young Matron Is Made Guest of Honor at Surprise Dinner

AMONG pleasant events of recent date was the dinner party which Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Gowen planned at their home, 928 Spurgeon street, honoring the birthday of Mrs. W. D. Doll, popular young matron of the city.

Mrs. Doll was asked to come informally for the dinner and the evening, with all mention of her birthday studiously avoided. When Mr. Gowen drove down for his daughter and her husband, and brought them home for the event, the guests were all assembled ready to offer birthday wishes and congratulations.

Dinner was served at once, the guests, confined to more intimate friends of the honoree, finding their places by means of attractive cards in the predominance of yellow tones. Flowers, nut cups, the birthday cake with an even dozen of lighted candles, even the tall tapers which illumined the scene, were all in harmony with the yellow color scheme. Covers were laid for twelve including the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Gowen and the honor guests, Mr. and Mrs. Doll.

Court whist, bridge and other favorite card games were introduced in the after-dinner interval, offering an unusually pleasant evening to hosts and guests alike.

Work Commences On Big Hospital

SAWTELLE, Jan. 26.—Construction has started on a projected $1,500,000 six-story general hospital for the old soldiers' home here.

The local chamber of commerce and other Southland commercial organizations have been striving for 10 years to raise funds for the soldiers' hospital.

Elaborate ceremonies marked laying of the cornerstone.

The first dental college for women in the Philippines has been opened at Manila. A woman dentist is dean.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even if the child is chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never grips, sickens or upsets the most delicate system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.

61 ARE INDICTED IN BOOTLEG RING

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Three indictments, charging conspiracy to violate the Volstead act and also sending men to sea in an unseaworthy vessel, were returned here today against William V. Dwyer and 60 others involved in the million-dollar rum syndicate, recently uncovered by U. S. Attorney Emory Buckner.

The sealed indictments were opened in federal court by Herman S. Stuchman, Buckner's assistant.

Extent of the operations of the ring is revealed by the fact that agents in London and Montreal are included among those indicted.

Love Shattered; Man Kills Self

PASADENA, Jan. 26.—Bitterness over a shattered love affair prompted Charles Sublette, 21-year-old electrician, to commit suicide, according to police. The youth's body was found early today on the floor of the battery shop where he was employed. He had swallowed poison.

CORNS

Lift Off—No Pain!

Doesn't hurt one bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn or corn between the toes, and the foot calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Don't dose A Child's Cold

CHILDREN hate to be dosed with medicine. Vicks VapoRub relieves colds, without dosing, in two ways at once. When rubbed over throat and chest at bedtime:—

- (1) It is vaporized by the body heat and inhaled right to the inflamed air passages and lungs;
- (2) At the same time it acts through the skin like an old-fashioned poultice, "drawing out" the pain, tightness and soreness.

Of course Vicks is just as good for the cold troubles of adults.

WHAT COUNCIL DID COUNCIL GETS HIGH-POWERED SALES ECHOES

Echoes of high-powered, go-getting sales methods in disposing of subdivisions were heard last night at the city council meeting, when Miss Anna O'Donnell, accompanied by her sister, appeared before the city fathers seeking information regarding an assessment charge placed against their property on Bonnie Brae for installation of a lighting system.

The owners of the property told the councilmen that the lot had been sold to them with the distinct understanding that the city would put in the lighting system. In support of their contention, they exhibited a sales contract executed by a real estate firm.

An examination of the document by City Attorney Z. B. West Jr. disclosed the fact that while the contract stipulated that the city should put in the lighting system, it did not add that the cost of such installation should be borne by the city. He further explained that invariably the city engineering department has charge of the installation of lighting systems in order to have the work comply with city requirements.

The cost, however, is always borne by the property owners, he added.

Satisfied on this point, the sisters wanted information as to why they had not been given notice of the proposed assessment. They were told that the lighting system had been installed as a result of a petition signed by a majority of property holders, which action is binding upon all property holders affected, without sending individual notices.

Coming by way of the Panama canal on the steamer Ecuador Mrs. George Perkins of New York, N. Y. and Mrs. E. B. Estabrook and daughter, Ellen Barbara of Philadelphia, Penn., have arrived in Santa Ana where they are the guests of Miss Mary Craig, 911 Spurgeon street. They expect to spend three months in Santa Ana.

Mrs. Ella Campau of 801 French street, who is almost herself following her long illness, was able to be out yesterday for the Congregational dinner and the meeting of the Ebell society which followed, and received a hearty welcome from her hosts of friends.

Dr. and Mrs. M. L. Pindell, who now reside in San Fernando, where Dr. Pindell has charge of the X-ray department in the government hospital, stopped over in Santa Ana for a brief visit with friends, on their way to San Diego, where they spent the week-end.

Little Miss Mildred Paul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Paul of 1209 West Third street, who has been ill with scarlet fever, is convalescent and able to be up. Mr. Paul is painter for the Franklin school.

Mrs. Grace Tyler of Los Angeles, clerk of the executive board of the Neighbors of Woodcraft at Arlington, visited Santa Ana friends last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Layton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Layton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Clipson spent a pleasant visit Sunday, visiting the other members of the family. In Los Angeles they called upon the R. J. Layton family, at Southgate the L. C. Laytons and at Inglewood Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Davis of Lansing, Mich., who are wintering in Hollywood, visited here last Friday at the home of their friends, Mrs. M. J. Ward and her daughter, Miss Constance Ward at 1212 West Third street.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank O. Calkins of 807 Garfield street enjoyed an over-Sunday visit from their old friends, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Wright and daughter, Margaret of Los Angeles. Mr. Wright is connected with the municipal water department of Los Angeles.

Mrs. John W. Norton of 301 West First street, who was thought to have been seriously injured on Sunday in an automobile accident, was not hurt much, one arm only having been bruised. Mrs. Norton's son, Kenneth, who was driving and Dr. L. Mann Hammond, who was also in the machine were not injured and only slight injury was done their machine.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baxter, formerly of Blythe, who have been guests at the home of Mrs. Baxter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Armstrong, 1008 North Broadway, left this morning for Tulare, where they will remain indefinitely with Mr. Baxter's brother, Charles Baxter.

The many friends of Mrs. Henry D. Meyer of 1712 North Main street, will be grieved to learn that she is very seriously ill at her home. The nurse in charge reported a very slight improvement today in Mrs. Meyer's condition.

2 Light System Petitions Read At Council Meet

Two petitions for installation of ornamental lighting systems were read last night, at the city council meeting, and referred to the city engineer for report and recommendations.

One asked for a lighting system on East street, between Edinger and Wilshire. It was signed by Glenn Wiley, K. J. Maddock, Roy F. Shalter, J. W. Welch, V. E. McColeman, C. C. Irvin, Clyde L. Jenkins and R. E. Young.

The other petition asked for installation of lights on Wakeham place between Orange avenue and Halladay street. It was signed by John H. Neale, W. Lighburn, O. N. Hanson, Bruce E. Switzer, C. T. Green, Arthur Wangle, Bert J. Corley and M. Vandermast.

COMPLAINT IS FILED AGAINST BILLBOARD ADS

Official action was taken last night, at the city council meeting, on a number of complaints filed by private citizens against alleged nuisances and irregularities.

Heading the list was one directed against the miniature billboards and cardboard posters, exhibited at service stations, advertising the quality of gas, tires and lubricants. It was contended that a large number of private residence owners have protested against this free advertising scheme, which, they assert, constitutes an eye-sore to the neighborhood. The complaint was referred to Stanley Goode and George McPhee for investigation and report.

A request that the city authorities take prompt steps to enforce the weed ordinance was made by George R. Wells, well known local business man, who told the trustees that the condition of certain lots in the city is a disgrace to the community.

Wooden awnings, dating back to the days when Santa Ana was a mere village, came in for their share of criticism. In this connection, the council appointed a special committee, headed by Trustee C. H. Chapman, with instructions to investigate and bring in recommendations.

Failing to arouse the interest of the city fathers was a petition, carrying a long string of names, asking that no permit be granted for the erection of a tent on the vacant lot, located on the northwest corner of Bishop and Cypress. To make the petition more effective, the signers asked that no permit be granted, under any circumstances, regardless of the purpose for which desired. Proceeding on the basis that the request savored too much of interference with the use of private property, the petition was denied.

NEVADA TO KILL 3 BY LETHAL GAS

CARSON CITY, Nev., Jan. 26.—Three men in the state's prison here today awaited execution by lethal gas, Nevada's novel way of killing its murderers.

John Randolph is the last of the trio to be so destined, the supreme court having just upheld his conviction on a charge of beating his aged mother to death in Reno, last June, because she refused to prepare his breakfast.

Stanko Jukich and Guadalupe Acosta, convicted slayers, are the other two. Dates for the executions have not yet been set.

STRAY DOGS OF SANTA ANA TO BE ROUNDED UP

Constitutional guaranties, sanctity of the home, police powers of the city, and related subjects, came up for discussion last night at the city council meeting, in connection with a proposed roundup of all unlicensed and stray dogs in the city. It was charged that the public thoroughfares of the city are rapidly becoming kennels for a miscellaneous collection of mongrels of every type and description and it is time that the dog catchers should get busy.

In discussing ways and means for ridding the city of stray dogs, it was brought out that not a few owners have failed to secure the required city license for their four-footed friends. This, in turn, led the discussion to the subject of the poundmaster and his duties.

City Attorney Z. B. West Jr. held that the dog catcher has authority to enter the yard of a private home if he sees a dog without a license tag. Councilman George McPhee, holding the office of police commissioner, wanted to be sure, however, that the dog catcher would not be overstepping his authority if attempting to pick up a dog on private premises. The city attorney then explained that while the poundmaster could not enter a home for the purpose of searching for unlicensed dogs without a search warrant, he has ample authority to enter a private yard if he sees a dog without a license tag.

Hearing Opens On 2 Petitions For Injunction

Hearing on the petitions of H. J. Burdort and S. W. Miller, Fullerton property owners, to enjoin Fullerton city authorities from maintaining water ditches along Harvard, Ash and other streets, near the petitioners' land, opened today before Superior Judge R. Y. Williams.

The injunction proceedings are incident and preliminary to the trial of two damage suits against the city, Burdort seeking $3000 and Miller, $2000, for alleged injury to their property from the ditches and from alleged trespassing and destruction by city workmen.

Pending trial of the damage suits, Burdort and Miller want the city restrained from maintaining the ditches, which lead from a natural water course northeast of their property. Alleged faulty construction of the ditches present a flood menace to their lands, the plaintiffs claim.

Attorneys M. B. Wellington, of Bishop and Wellington, called Miller to the witness stand today to testify for the plaintiffs, with Clyde Butler, licensed surveyor, as the next witness. Butler's testimony was chiefly of a technical nature and included criticism of the ditch construction.

City Engineer W. C. Record, of Fullerton, one of the defendants, sat with the city council, F. H. Lyon and Stanley Reinhaus, and appeared to be checking the testimony of Butler.

The hearing still was in progress this afternoon.

Realty Official Will Visit Here

William E. Herrin, of Chicago, director of the extension department of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, will visit the Santa Ana Board of Realtors at its meeting here Friday noon, according to advices from Herrin.

The Chicagoan visited the board here last year and was given a big ovation by local realtors.

Herrin arrived in Los Angeles today. He will be in Glendale tomorrow and in Huntington Park Thursday.

SANTA ANA, CALIFORNIA, TUESDAY, JANUARY 26, 1926

PAGES SEVEN TO TWELVE

PLAN FOR ROAD ACROSS SANTA ANA MOUNTAINS OUTLINED HERE

Want Orange County Interested in Projection of Highway Through Hills

COST IS ESTIMATED AT ABOUT $20,000

Route Favored by Forest Service As Big Aid in Event of Fire Battles

"Is Orange county interested in the construction of a road across the Santa Ana mountains from Corona to the Santiago canyon, by way of Oak Flat and Black Star canyon?"

The question was asked today by J. E. Elliott, of San Diego, forest supervisor of the Cleveland National forest, of which the Santa Ana mountain range is a part.

Elliott said that an agreement had been reached between the forest service and Riverside county and Corona representatives, whereby a road is to be built from the foot of the mountains, near Corona, to the Orange county line, crossing Oak Flat, which is located on the top of the ridge, above the head of Black Star canyon. Tentative plans provide for Riverside county contributing $3000 to the fund, Corona, $2000, and the forest service, $5000, making $10,000 with which it is figured to build a nine-foot road to Oak Flat.

"A good road can be constructed from the bottom of Black Star, at the Shaw place, to the top of the ridge, on this side," said Elliott. "The cost likely would be $15,000 or $20,000."

Elliott said that the forest service is interested in the opening of the road will give a way of quick transportation of men to the interior of the forest area in case of fire.

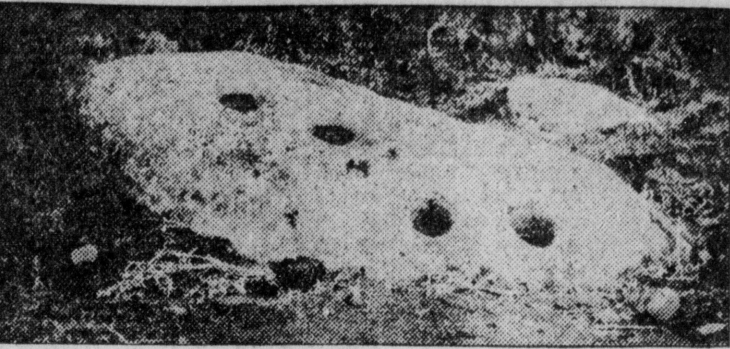

Would Protect Road
 "It is true that opening a road also increases fire danger," said Elliott. "However, it is proposed to take steps to protect this road against the fire menace. The value of having a road by which men, supplies and equipment quickly can be taken into the forest was demonstrated last summer, when we made fine use of the road into the mountains from Elsinore. That road, in that one fire, more than paid for the expenditure that went into it from forest funds."

At Corona, there has been some discussion favorable to continuing the mountain road, when built to Oak Flat, along the crest of the range toward Old Saddleback. The Coronans believe that this road will open up the mountains and make of them a greater asset than now is possible. Visions of a popular automobile road have actuated the residents of Corona to take an interest in the project. The road, too, might be the cause of development of clay deposits in the mountains.

Black Star canyon is one of the most picturesque, in scenery and in history, of the canyons that branch from the Santiago canyon. Black Star enters the Santiago at a point about four miles above the Orange county park. In the '70s, part of this canyon was homesteaded. There are two ranches in the lower end, one known as the Shaw place and the other as the Yoch place. The canyon was originally called Can-

MOVE LEADING TO STATEHOOD IS DESCRIBED PICTURE WILL BE FILMED AT BEACH TOWNS

Interesting details of the situation that brought about the organization of California into a state were given in a paper read last evening before the Orange County Historical society by William McPherson, of McPherson, at the Elbell clubhouse. The speaker outlined the alacide system that was in use under military conduct, following the Mexican war. California was under an uncertain rule, mostly local. The Americans were endeavoring to use Mexican law.

This uncertain and unsatisfactory condition was brought to an end by the holding of a constitutional convention at Monterey in 1849. Forty-eight delegates attended. One of the many points of controversy at that gathering was over the boundaries. Some wanted the state to include what is now Arizona and Utah. Others wanted the east line to be in the Sierra Nevada. Finally, the present boundaries were adopted. A delegation of four was sent to Washington, and there, within a year, California was admitted as a state.

At last evening's meeting of the society, Dr. C. D. Ball was re-elected president and S. M. Davis was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Mrs. J. E. Pleasants was chosen vice president. Directors are Dr. Ball, Davis, Mrs. Pleasants, William McPherson, R. C. Northcross, Mrs. W. B. Tedford and W. T. Brown. William McPherson was appointed chairman of the program committee, and T. E. Stephenson, Mrs. Olive Lopez and William McPherson were named as a committee to make a report on the advisability of endeavoring to have papers of the society printed in book form.

INDIAN NAMES DEFENDED BY NOTED WRITER

Author-Adventurer Would Not Sacrifice Aboriginal and Tribal Terms

Memories of the west, when that word meant Indians, great herds of buffalo and sturdy pioneers, fill the mind of James Willard Schultz, author and adventurer, who spends his winters in Laguna Beach. Schultz has just arrived in the Southland again, after spending the usual summer in Montana, with the Blackfoot tribe.

Schultz's life story reads like an adventure tale of the old Western variety, and he has incorporated his experiences and observations of 45 years among the aboriginal people in 22 books, the most noteworthy of which is, perhaps, "My Life As an American Indian," published in 1907.

As a boy, Schultz longed to "go west," fight Indians, hunt buffalo and experience all the rest of the thrilling adventures he had heard were to be encountered by the pioneer westerner. He finally got permission from his father to go west, kill one buffalo and, perhaps, an Indian, and return home.

Loved Wild Life.
 But once in the Indian country, Schultz was so fascinated with the wild life and so loved the Indians that he remained two years, before returning again to his people.

Schultz became a member of the Blackfoot tribe. His romance and subsequent marriage to a beautiful Indian maiden was the outcome of this life. He remained an Indian until 1894, when his wife died and he came to California to write his books. One son, Hart Marriam Schultz, now is a painter. The son's art depicts the wild life of yesterday's west, just as the father's books chronicle it.

Schultz declares that he now is greatly interested in preserving, for all time, the original Indian names of mountains, lakes and other points of western topography. Of this, he says:

Indian Names Poetical.
 "Indian names for the beautiful works of nature are among the most poetical ever conceived by man. It is a pity that white civilization should come along with such prosaic designations as John Brown's glacier, Mitchell's lake or Jones' river, for spots that the Indians called 'Tee-Where-the-Goat-Children-Play,' 'Lake of the Dancing Water' or 'The Liar River' (for a river whose course is irregular)."

"It is my ambition to bring back into use these names or their English translation. To do away with them, I think, is just a little short of sacrilege. Besides, the whole history and atmosphere of the country is sacrificed by the innovation of modern names, for just as the spots in California, connected with the padres, the missions and the Spanish adventurers, should be preserved, so should the names of a poetical people, the Indians, be kept as a natural heritage in the landscape of America."

It is a two-reel comedy and highly charged with giggles and a bit of pathos here and there. The location is on the bay, the beach and the streets and alleys of Newport Beach, East Newport and Balboa.

It is stated that the picture will be completed within the next two or three weeks and will appear for the first time on the screen of the Allison theater. From a casual glance of the cast, it would seem that Hollywood will shortly discover that it has been superseded.

Eric Liddell, the Scottish athlete who so splendidly represented Britain in the last Olympic Games, is now doing missionary work in China.

DURKIN, CHICAGO BANDIT, HIS BRIDE AND "OTHER GIRL" WHO TURNED AGAINST HIM

Here is the first photograph of Irma Sullivan Durkin, 18-year-old bride of Martin Durkin, Chicago gunman. She is at the right, and the picture was taken after she reached Chicago and learned, not only that Durkin was a murderer, but that he had another sweetheart. The "other sweetheart," Betty Werner, who once helped Durkin escape imprisonment in California, but who now threatens to tell police all she knows about him in reprisal for his marriage to Irma, is at the left. When she and Durkin met, after his arrest, Durkin asked her: "So they've made you bitter against me, have they?" She answered, "You did it yourself," and turned away. Inset is a picture of Durkin taken at the Chicago district attorney's office.

SANTA ANA Y. CIRCUS DATES ARE ANNOUNCED

Thursday and Friday, February 18 and 19, are the dates for the second annual Y. M. C. A. gymnasium circus, it was announced today by R. R. Russick, physical director.

Russick said that the performance this year promises to eclipse the show presented last year. It will show, in an entertaining fashion, the various kinds of physical training given in the Y. gymnasium.

"We shall emphasize mass work in the circus this year," said Russick. "While the expert gymnastic acts will be given their place on the program and individual performers of ability will furnish their share of the entertainment, we propose to specialize on the work of large numbers in drills and games. We hope to have the entire gymnasium floor filled with boys and men for at least one number of the program, in which more than 100 women and girls will appear. The women's class, which gave a clever marching stunt last year, is preparing another one, equally good. One class of girls is to offer a 'pom-pom drill.'"

A new feature, according to Russick, is the introduction of a genuine circus event, namely, the "after concert," which will follow the main show. The men's chorus, which has been singing for its own entertainment and benefit for the last two months, is preparing a minstrel show, which will be staged immediately after the close of the big performance.

"We are announcing our dates this far in advance," Russick said, "because we hope that other clubs and organizations will not include their big events for those same dates. We had set our show for an earlier date, but because of the Community Players' plans, we set our dates back to avoid conflict. We have no information of any conflicts for February 18 and 19 and hope that none may arise."

S. A. DeMolay to Present Degree For Beach Lodge

Second degree work of the DeMolay order will be presented by the Santa Ana chapter tomorrow night before the Huntington Beach Masons.

The impressive ceremonies will be given by the degree team. Santa Ana DeMolays will leave here from the Masonic temple at 7 p. m., to accompany the team to the beach city.

The Santa Ana DeMolay chapter recently put on the degree before the Santa Ana Masonic chapter.

PIONEER RECALLS UNUSUAL RAINFALL OF 1884 SEASON

According to John Cubbon, 902 French street, and other old-timers, there is plenty of time yet for floods.

In support of his assertion, Cubbon, who has lived in Santa Ana for more than half a century, produces a copy of the rainfall record kept by Richard Egan, at San Juan Capistrano, during the season of 1884. The season was dry up to the last of January. Grass in the foothills withered, and desert winds came often. The outlook was discouraging.

And then it rained. And it rained more. And it kept on raining until one could ride in a boat from Santa Ana to Los Angeles over land that is now farmed or occupied by homes. Everything from Santa Ana to the sea was under water.

Up to the morning of January 27, according to Cubbon's copy of Egan's record, there had been 3.12 inches, most of it having dried away as fast as it had fallen.

In January 27 came .02 inch and the next day a nice rain of 3.60 inches, with .12 inch the next day. Skies cleared until February 1, when .46 inch fell. It rained 10 different days between January 31 and February 17, and in that time the total rainfall was 12.13 inches, which is quite a bit more than Santa Ana has had during any one year for some time now.

March was also wet, but with only 9.33 inches, February had it better. During March, rain was recorded on 13 different days.

April came in with frequent showers to help out the season's totals. It rained on seven different days in April, with a total of 1.56 for the month. May was not neglectful. On May 15 came .42 inch and on May 18 there was added .34 inch. June, too, was in style, for on the 13th of that month a storm brought .92 inch.

The total for the season was 32.65 inches.

With this record before him, John Cubbon is not saying that the spring of 1926 is not necessarily going to be dry. It might be like the spring of 1884.

"KERNELS" BY THE COLONEL

Now that Thrift week is a thing of the past, we can all go back to playing the slot machines. Hooryay!

Santa Ana theaters are overlooking a good advertising medium by not presenting a certain well known citizen with a season pass. He has been referred to as "Laughing Bill," and he apparently gets more enjoyment out of a vaudeville act, regardless of how rotten it is than Nero did when his wife burned her finger.

Being more or less conservative, we say that "Laughing Bill" gives the audience more of a kick than some of the vaudeville acts.

He generally sits close to the stage, and at every joke he cackles louder than a hen after her first egg has been laid.

Many times the actors get applause calling for an encore because the audience wants to hear "Bill" laugh again.

A man with such a disposition, a man who can laugh like "Bill," is bound to have a big heart, and he is an asset in any community.

"Approximately 150 bee men and their honeys will be here this week," Register. If the above is true, we are wondering how it happened that Hollywood didn't get this convention.

Why is it odd that J. G. Cash has been appointed cashier of a Balboa bank. Yet, it is.

Here is one that is told on a Santa Ana, but no names were given. The person (man or woman) walked into a local book store and ordered a magazine sent out to the Community hospital to a patient. How long do you want the magazine sent out there? the clerk asked. The person hesitated a moment and then remarked that a month would be long enough as the patient might die by that time. SOMEBODY PLAY THE NATIONAL ANTHEM OF SCOTLAND.

What's become of the political bunk that started up here a week ago? Seven days ago, everybody in the county was running for something. Then they got to following the thrift dollar around and apparently there hasn't been a vote made since.

And speaking of politics, please remember that this column is backing the people's friend, J. McGuffus McWhistle, for the keeper of Monkeywrench Park.

Speaking of the Charleston and its effect on the society of today, here is one that appeared in the Register the other day: "The bride was very lively in a picturesque gown of richly soft silk in the new atmosphere tint."

And here's one not so lively. An Orange county school paper, under the heading, "Two Sisters Are Left," tells of the death of a woman who received "severe fatal injuries" in an auto accident and "left two daughters."

Dalea Clover Outfalls Alfalfa

Whenever an obnoxious weed can be converted into a valuable plant, the fact ought to be spread out in headlines across every column of every newspaper in the country. For Dalea Clover is just that. It dwarfs Hubam clover and outfalls alfalfa. In a period of years such a discovery is worth more to us in dollars than we can readily compute. For after all the fine speeches have been made and toasts drunk to this, that and the other industry, the welfare of this country is dependent (in the final analysis) upon agriculture.

So here's to Dalea Clover, with Diamonds to service it and you night and day. And here's our personal guarantee that rides with every Diamond to put a smile on the face of every driver whose pathway is strewn with Diamonds.

STAGE AND SCREEN

Joe Bennett and two of his company who appear in "The Telephone Tangle," one of the principal acts on the vaudeville program tonight and tomorrow at the Yost theater.

YOST THEATER

With Joe Bennett as principal comedian, "The Telephone Tangle," one of vaudeville's funniest satires, will appear here tonight and Wednesday as the feature act of the Association Vaudeville show at the Yost theater. A telephone office is revealed, with the booths filled with men and women who are frantically trying to get numbers. Bennett is aided in his fun-making by a capable cast of five, and the gaiety occasioned by these comedy artists furnishes a hilarious laughing episode.

Nora Kelly, the Erin song bird, is back in vaudeville after several years' retirement in Los Angeles. Her program consists of a number of music selections, in conjunction with humorous bits put over in her inimitable Irish manner.

Nat Goldstein, who woots tunes from the keyboard for her accompaniment, is Miss Kelly's husband, and the composer of many of her tunes.

There is perhaps no more picturesque national dance than those of Spanish origin. In typical Spanish costumes Joe Reed and Julia Ray deliver a quarter of an hour of diversified entertainment, which consists of Spanish dances, talk that is decidedly original, and close with a musical mixture of auto-harp, guitar and mouth organ. The act is known as "The Bull Fighter."

A combination of virtually all kinds of aerial work will be accomplished by the Ruth Howell Duo, known as America's Premier Aerialists.

Billy Starnard, is truly a "zylophonist extraordinary," for he sends his mallets over the tuneful boards at a merry pace, bringing forth the sweetest melodies imaginable.

WEST COAST-WALKER

Seldom does a picture create such widespread interest as has "The Merry Widow," now playing at the West Coast-Walker theater. But it was inevitable with such a significant combination of story, director and cast. The title suggests picturesque romance, and in the hands of the gifted director, Erich von Stroheim ideally suited to stage such a thing, the production has exceeded the fondest expectations held for it. The title role, in which Miss Murray is featured, furnishes this piquant actress with the best role of her career, and that she gives "The Merry Widow" the charm and vivacity it needs goes without saying. John Gilbert, one of the most popular men on the screen today, invests the part of "Prince Danilo" with a brilliance and dash which has come to be associated with this actor. Other members of the cast including Roy D'Arcy, a new von Stroheim discovery who plays the villainous Crown Prince, Tully Marshall, George Fawcett, Josephine Crowell, and Dale Fuller acquit themselves nobly in their respective roles.

On the stage is the latest West Coast presentation, "Syncopation," produced by Fanchon and Marco with the famous sixteen California flashes, Crosby and Rinker, Bobby Thompson, the Chinese Trio and Daniel Payne. Each and everyone has his particular interpretation of "Syncopation" in song and dance numbers and embrace every phase from jazz to Charleston.

The musical scores and dance numbers have been selected with this in view and the entire act including settings and costumes is a dazzling number which will make the most depressed feel that it is a gay and carefree old world after all.

WEST END THEATER

Al Christie's latest farce comedy, "Madam Behave," in which Julian Eltinge, the renowned woman impersonator, and Ann Pennington, the no less famous American interpreter of jazz dances, are featured, scored an emphatic hit at the West End theater yesterday. For more than an hour, hilarity reigned supreme. The audience was delighted with it. Not since "Charley's Aunt" was shown at this theater, has so amusing a screen comedy been presented here.

The story deals with a handsome young architect, portrayed by Eltinge, and his efforts to win the hand of Gwen Townley, ward of Seth Morgan, a rich, crusty bachelor who opposes the courtship. But Morgan is sued by Henry Jasper, another crusty bachelor, for damages, and at the trial, Jasper's chief witness, a woman, is missing. Morgan is told that the only way he can beat the suit is to find and marry this woman. This provokes a series of laughable situations, particularly when the young architect is forced by circumstances to disguise himself as a woman and is mistaken for the missing witness. The efforts of the two old bachelors to woo her are laughable in the extreme. The comedy is a fit antidote to the blues. The supporting cast is excellent.

YOST THEATER

An exceptionally brilliant cast supports Johnny Hines, the comedy king of the screen, in his new offering, "The Live Wire," now showing at the Yost theater. This irresistible funmaker has in his support such well known screen players as Edmund Breese, Mildred Ryan, J. Barney Sherry, Flora Finch and Bradley Barker.

Breese and Sherry have long been favorites with movie audiences and "on the boards," and the scope of their talents was never exemplified more than in "The Live Wire." Breese enacts the role of "Sawdust Al," Hines' circus pal, while Sherry is seen in his favorite role as the well-to-do business magnate.

Flora Finch, whose name is a household word in the realm of comedy production, adds a scintillating bit of business.

Miss Ryan, who is rapidly forging to the front, is the protegee of C. C. Burr, the producer, who noticed her effective work in a picture two years ago and took her under his wing. As Hines' leading woman she has proven a happy choice, since she possesses charm, animation, beauty and screen intelligence to a marked degree.

Bradley Barker is cast in the role of the villain, and he does it with a finesse that will make him thoroughly hated by every spectator.

Court Refuses Probation Plea

Meeting with quick refusal when he asked Superior Judge R. Y. HARRY GREB DEBUTS
AT VERNON TONIGHT

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26.—Harry Greb, world's middleweight champion is a strong favorite with the boxing fraternity to beat Ted Moore one of England's best in a 10 round bout at Vernon tonight.

Besides having the prestige of a champion, Greb also has the record of disposing of Moore in a Gotham ring the first time they met. Moore, however, gave him a good battle and indications point to another good fight tonight in the pair's second engagement.

The title will not be at stake as both fighters will enter the ring over the middleweight limit.

Greb, incidentally, is saving the title to give Tiger Flowers a chance at it in New York Feb. 26. He considers tonight's bout as splendid training for this later contest.

SCHOOL NEWS

Parent-Teachers

Lowell School
The fathers of the Lowell school P.-T. A. had charge of an evening meeting, Thursday, January 14. Mr. Charles M. Best, president, kept a smile on the faces of all those present, with his droll humor. After the business of the evening, a musical program was offered. Ronald Crookbank, on the violin, with Nellie Mae Chapman at the piano, played two beautiful numbers. Miss Elizabeth Parslow kept her listeners spell-bound with her delightful piano solos. Miss Edith Cornell sang "Thank God for a Garden" and "Come to the Fair" in her usual charming manner. Mrs. Frances Hunt Beeson accompanied.

Dr. G. C. Ross gave an enlightening talk on "Why We Should Take Care of the Teeth of Children." He emphasized the fact that Santa Ana is behind many other cities of like size in giving her children dental examination and care in schools. Dental nurses and dentists can do much for the general health of the child, he said.

Miss Veverka, supervisor of primary schools in Los Angeles, was a guest the latter part of the evening, and was gracious enough to give a valued talk.

A social evening followed the program, at which time coffee and sandwiches were served. All refreshments were donated by friends of the P.-T. A.

Mamie Granholm.

McKinley
The McKinley P.-T. A. held an interesting meeting Thursday afternoon. After the reading of the minutes, the reports of several committees were heard. Mrs. Miller, of Long Beach, spoke about the course of piano lessons open to beginners. Such a class may be held if fifteen pupils can be secured. The speaker for the afternoon, Mrs. Clarkson, gave a most interesting talk, "The Art of Story Telling." Other enjoyable features of the program were the drills given by the high sixth grade, under the leadership of Miss Gertrude Potts. Max Elliott played a piano solo. The meeting closed with a round table discussion of "The Child, His Nature and His Needs."

Valentine Sale
The Kindergarten is having a valentine sale to help buy toys. The sale is for the pupils of McKinley school and all are expected to help the Kindergarten out.

Soccer game
The sixth grade played a game of soccer against the fifth grade. The captains of the two teams were Pam Bean and Winford Hess. The score was 3 to 1.

"Wise Owls '23"
Mrs. Harter, the mother of one of the students has written a song for the high six club, "Wise Owls '23." Part of the song is as follows: The "Wise Owls '23" are a club of mirth and glee. The "Wise Owls '23" are Hurrah, Hurrah, whee!

Katharine Benham. Picnic at Park
The high sixth grade is planning a picnic at Orange county park. Those going on the picnic will leave at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. They will take a lunch and motor to the park cars provided for the occasion. It is the last time the sixth grade students will be together so they are trying to make this picnic more than usually successful.

Flora Park. Entertain P.-T. A.
The high sixth grade of McKinley school entertained the P.-T. A. Thursday afternoon. The girls put on a play called "Women of Tomorrow" while the boys gave a wand drill. Max Elliott gave a piano solo. The program was enjoyed by every one present.

Marguerite Avas. Debating
The high sixth grade is going to have a debate in the history room. The question is "Resolved: That there are more advantages to be gained living in modern times than in olden times." Katharine Benham is captain of the affirmative side. Flora Park is captain of the negative side.

Flora Park. The Julia Lathrop P.-T. A. met
Thursday afternoon at 3:15 at the school house. While the attendance was not as large as usual, the spirit of the meeting was manifestly both helpful and progressive. The meeting was opened with community singing, using the new song folders recently purchased by the association. The Misses Mary Boyd and Marietta Lumbaugh led the singing in the absence of Miss Cornell. They also sang a duet, "Golden Gate."

Miss Joy Best pleased the audience with two clever readings. As was anticipated Mr. E. B. Sprague and Mrs. Hazel Maxwell gave splendid addresses in keeping with National Thrift week and many parents are now endeavoring to follow the budget plan. They brought out many helpful things which was followed by a general discussion.

The association took several important steps. It was learned that the school was very much in need of a Spencer film projector to display educational pictures. It was voted to purchase one for the school.

The recently adopted school uniform was discussed and it was learned there are a few girls who feel they cannot afford to purchase the middie and skirts but are fully in sympathy with the movement. Some of the mothers kindly offered to make over dresses for these girls if material is furnished. If there are those in our city who have blue serge materials that could be converted into skirt or who have middie that might be used the association would be very grateful to receive them.

The next meeting of the P.-T. A. will be February 13, and will be an evening meeting with Founders day program. It is hoped that a large number of fathers and mothers will attend their meeting; to learn more of what the P.-T. A. is and for what it stands.

"The Child's First School is the Family."—Froebel.

SEVEN DEADLY WORDS

Ethel Clark Bickel
A group of young mothers were chatting together, and as invariably happens, they began to tell the funny little sayings of their children.

"I surely had a good laugh at Billy the other day," remarked one of the mothers. "He had a bag of candy and kept urging his mother to take some. Finally Aunt Helen to take some. Finally I inquired why he was especially interested in Aunt Helen and why he didn't coax the others to take some of his sweets instead of always passing it to Aunt Helen. Well, you see, Muvver," Billy answered, "when I pass it to Aunt Helen, she nesses takes any, she jus' thanks me and gives it back!"

The incident just told occurred a couple of years ago, and Billy is now beyond the baby-making stage, in fact, proudly marching off to first primary, daily. I visited with his mother one day not long ago, and as usual, we fell to talking of Billy, who has always been a favorite of mine. "I'm rather worried about him," she confided, "he's getting so selfish! Lately, I've noticed it in so many little ways."

Then she went on to tell me how generous Billy had been as a little fellow, a fact which I, myself, had often noted. "Really," she said, "I used to have to guard him or he'd give away all he had. He divided his pennies, meant for his bank, among all the children in the block, and he was so generous about sharing his toys, candy and everything!"

Our minds play us odd trick at times. While she was still speaking, a picture flashed before me of that other day when we all sat chatting and she had related Billy's funny remark about the candy. "When I pass it to Aunt Helen, she jus' thanks me and gives it back." That was what he had said. And, thereon hung the secret of Billy's developed selfishness. A naturally loving, giving child, gradually he had been made selfish. Oh no, it was not Aunt Helen alone who had been guilty. It was his grandmother, his "granddaddy," all his uncles, aunts and older cousins.

He was the only child among many relatives, and they all doted on him. Instead of accepting anything within reason he offered, as they should, they usually said, "No thank you, dear, you keep it." No seven words could be more deadly to the generous impulses of any only child, or to any other.

I told my friend of the trials I had passed through with my little daughter. She, like Billy, was by nature generous, and I had been determined that she should remain so. Often I had heard it said, "An only child always grows up to be selfish." Betty shall not be so, I had decided. So I took particular pains that anything she offered should be accepted. Not only did I practice this myself but her father did likewise, and I similarly instructed her relatives. "No matter what she offers you, take it," I told them. "Let's try to keep her unselfish." When they seemed about to fall me, as they did at times, I silently signaled. Betty, as a result of this practice, is a generous child.

GUIDE TO DESTINY
LONDON, Jan. 26.—That character and destiny can be read by watching persons dance is the novel declaration of a society clairvoyant. Women especially, she thinks, give themselves away, as it were, when they dance.

WEAR CLUB GARTERS
LONDON, Jan. 26.—Women's garters in club or regimental form are a new novelty being displayed in the shops. Many girls are wearing the colors of their sweethearts' schools.

John Muir

The John Muir Improvement club gave a "Thrift" program Thursday. The president, Louis Rogers, called the meeting to order. The secretary, Evelyn Furtch, read the program which is as follows:

The Boyhood Days of Benjamin Franklin, Barbara Allen; Franklin's Adventures in Philadelphia, Eunice Bright; Franklin's Discoveries and Inventions, Mable Johnston; The Services of Franklin to the U. S., Evelyn Furtch; The Hall of Virtues—Temperance, John Quantans; Silence, Gerald Jennings; Order, Essie Smith; Resolution, Milton Law; Frugality, Louis Rogers; Industry, Aubrey Moore; Sincerity, Frank Thompson; Justice, Olive Downs; Moderation, Helen Jones; Tranquility, Hubert Bumbach; Cleanliness, Viola Arbisio; Humility, Felix Morales; Chastity, Elizabeth Dunton.

Every member gave a quotation from Franklin.

Kindergarten
Kiddies in the kindergarten had a gay time at a doll party held by them last week. Most of the members of that class came, bringing dolls of all shapes and sizes. A happy hour spent with the dolls delicious cookies, made by Miss Linda Mueller were served.

Aubrey Moore. Indoor Ball

John Muir school went to Artesia to play Artesia the return game in indoor ball January 19. Artesia won and the score was 16 to 9. The lineup as follows: Milton Law, catcher; John Quintana, pitcher; Hubert Bumbach, first base; Marvin Rohrs, second base; Jack Curley, third base; Charles Dyer, first short; Louis R. Reese, Allison and John Montana, fielders.

Milton Law.
Thursday, January 21, the heating plant was out of order. All of the rooms were cold, so the grades had their lessons outside. Some of the lower grades played games, and the rest of the grades had the same lessons that they would have had in the rooms. About eleven o'clock, the grades went in because the rooms were warm as the plant had been repaired.

Jovita Rangel. First Grade

The first grade finished the first reader and now is enjoying the "Dickie Dare Reader." The first grade is sorry to hear that three of its number are leaving them. Those leaving are Flowerence Snyder, Arthur Snyder and Harold Boyle. The first grade has three new members to fill the places of those who have gone. They are Jerome Wheat, Monroe Rice and Frankie Wilson.

Mable Johnston. ADOPT NEW WALK

Roosevelt

Not so long ago, the baseball team of the Franklin school came over to Roosevelt to play a game—a very interesting one too. The final score was 8 to 7 in favor of the Roosevelt team.

Another day Lowell's team came over and after some very fast playing, Roosevelt came out winner, with a score of 5 to 4.

Visit Exposition Park
Last Saturday, Miss Willis took the high sixth children on the semi-annual excursion to Exposition park. Previous to their departure, Miss Verna Wells, assisted by the girls in this group, packed individual lunches. A bus was chartered from the Crown Stage. They had a merry time going and coming from Los Angeles, singing songs, listening to and telling jokes and working puzzles.

Their first visit in Exposition park, was to the art galleries and museum. The main exhibit was representative of American artists, the United States having the largest exhibit. These pictures were especially colorful—and it was interesting to note the reactions of the children to the color in some, and the form in others.

The South American group proved interesting, but the children seemed to feel that they were not as finished in many instances as those in the former group.

The mammoth exhibits, the nature exhibits and the animal groups looking very realistic—came in for their share of praise. The ornaments, jewels and robes of various nations were noteworthy.

After this trip, they had lunch and then played games. Very shortly, the children were asking to go back to the arts building.

After they had finished their second tour of the museum, they went to the Industrial building where the products of California soil were shown, as well as the processes which make them marketable. And there were the canned goods exhibit, lumber exhibits and many others.

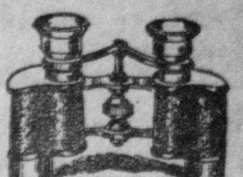

After visiting the playground they left the park for home.

The children expressed their appreciation of this trip, time and again.

Miss Elizabeth Walker and Miss Gladys Campbell accompanied the group.

All of those who went on that delightful trip to Exposition park wish to thank the P.-T. A. for its kind assistance.

10-Day Tube FREE

Mother!

Be sure you get Pepsodent for child's teeth and gums

DO you want your child to have prettier teeth now, and better protection from tooth and gum troubles in later life?

Mail the coupon then for a 10-day tube of Pepsodent, free. See what leading dentists urge mothers to use as science's latest attainment in tooth and gum care.

You will notice a film on your child's teeth. That's a frequent danger sign—an invitation for tooth and gum troubles. The same stubborn film that you can feel by running your tongue across your own teeth. You must combat it. Ordinary dentifrices don't fight it successfully.

Film is the greatest enemy of tooth health. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. Germs breed in it and imperil both teeth and gums. The acid that leads to early decay forms. Old-time methods failed to combat it. Men of science undertook to discover an effective combatant.

Now in Pepsodent, two new combatants are embodied—combatants approved by highest dental authority. It cures the film, gently removes it; then firms the gums. It keeps the teeth whiter, cleaner, more sparkling. It is the modern scientific method for better tooth protection. Insist upon it. Get a tube today. Mail the coupon.

WINTERBURN BACK FROM STANFORD QUEST

Billy Evans Says

Basketball is a great game, but it can be spoiled by too much officiating.

The thrill in basketball is provided by the intensive play that features the sport until the referee's whistle suspends action.

With the blowing of the whistle the crowd relaxes with the players and it takes some snappy work to get them back to the high pitch they were in prior to the sounding of the whistle.

It is an easy matter to let the players get too strenuous if the official is too lax. In the heat of action the roughhouse play may also creep into the game if the officials do not have the players under control.

On the other hand I have witnessed many number of games that have been slowed up badly by the officials being far too technical.

There is a happy medium that preserves action, yet doesn't give the players too much leeway. Such a condition calls for the application of common sense to many situations that arise rather than being too technical.

GOOD OFFICIALS

I have seen several games in the American Basketball league this year, which is regarded as the best.

On the whole the officiating has been excellent, yet if a criticism is possible, I would say the officials have adhered too closely to the rules.

Aside from umpiring baseball, I have in the last few days of my career done considerable basketball work, also served at hockey, roller polo and football.

In all branches of sport in which I have officiated, my prime object was to retain the action of the game to the limit. Preserve action and eliminate delays, has been my motto.

In baseball, I put a player out of the game only as a last resort. If I can get around the argument and keep the player in the game without being lax as to discipline, I always seek to do it.

In a recent basketball game played at Cleveland between Washington and Cleveland, two of the leaders, something like 40 fouls were called, 27 points being scored that way. It was a great game, but it would have been much better if a few less fouls had been called.

The proper time to break boxers in a clinch is a tough task for a fight referee, solving the "held ball" appears to be equally hard for the basketball official.

TOO TECHNICAL

Basketball is a constant fight for the possession of the ball. It is impossible to try for a basket unless you have the ball in your possession.

Thus it is apparent that two or more players will often have their hands on the ball in an effort to gain possession. On this point it seems that many officials are too quick on the whistle.

The rule says that two or more men must have a firm grip on the ball. Mere touching of the ball appears to be regarded in some quarters as a firm grip.

It doesn't do any great harm to permit the players to have a slight tug or two at the ball before sounding the whistle which stops all action.

Jack Sheridan, who taught me what I know about the umpire game, once said to me in reference to handling certain situations: "See the things you should see and not those you shouldn't."

In basketball it is possible to be too technical and the fans like to see action rather than to listen to the constant blowing of a whistle.

"RED" HABEL

Defective optics couldn't keep "Red" Habel, captain of the Wofford college basketball team, off the court. Habel found it necessary to wear "cheaters" while playing, so his coach, "Rip" Major, devised the mask you see in the above photo. And "Red" goes on shooting goals with unusual consistency.

HI-Y LEAGUERS RESUME COURT CONTESTS HERE

Teams in the Santa Ana Hi-Y league will launch on their second series of league matches this week with keener competition for the pennant honors. Winners of last week's frays are intent on continuing their successes and the teams that were defeated will be back stronger.

The Richland Avenue M. E. Bears scored a 20 to 7 victory over the high school Sagamos and the First Presbyterian Blue Streaks romped away with a 33 to 7 win over the Wintersburg Go-Getters last week.

HELEN WORKING FOR WORLD NET TOURNEY, VIEW

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—In starting her second foreign invasion, Helen Willis has lived up to every ideal that could have been entrusted to her as an American tennis champion.

As a tennis player she bravely tackled terrific odds, and as a young lady she has endeared herself to the French people, who do not always take kindly to strangers.

On the tennis court she faced the disadvantages of strange light, unfamiliar courts and a foreign ball and in public she withstood an ordeal that the shock-proof Mollie Mallory could hardly have restrained her temper against.

Miss Willis was asked hundreds of times before she sailed what she thought of Mlle. Lenglen and she has been forced to answer the same question thousands of times in France and her sportsmanship never has failed her.

Although she did not lose a set in her first tournament at Cannes, she did not overwhelm in Lenglenesque fashion. The rather ordinary way in which she went through the rounds leading up to the Metropole finals convinced many Frenchmen that she hasn't a chance against Mlle. Lenglen and it apparently has caused some concern in this country.

But this much should be remembered: If Miss Willis should be beaten every time she meets Mlle. Lenglen in the Riviera tournament, she will be the world's champion if she defeats the French star at Wimbledon.

The California girl was beaten once last season by Miss Elizabeth Ryan on a sloppy court at Seabright, but that defeat did not take away glory from her victory in the national championships at Forest Hills.

Wimbledon was the main goal of the young champion when she sailed, and apparently she is working only with Wimbledon in view. There is no doubt that she could have won more love sets than she did last week at Cannes, but there is little to be gained by humiliating and overwhelming a weak opponent.

The British championship tournament on Wimbledon's turf courts will be the real test. Although the United States Tennis association refuses to admit it, the Wimbledon championship is the world's championship for women as the American tournament has very little international representation.

Things in the game slowly and methodically. Miss Willis ought to be in the greatest form of her career at Wimbledon and there is one thing quite certain—if she should be beaten two or three times in France by Mlle. Lenglen she will not be intimidated when she goes to England.

HELEN WINS FIRST MATCH IN GALLIA TOURNEY

CANNES, France, Jan. 26.—Playing in greatly improved form, Helen Willis, American national tennis champion, won her first round singles match of the Gallia tournament here today from Miss S. Bendit, England, at 6-1 and 6-0.

While her opponent is not a high ranking player, the form shown by the American champion was most impressive.

HISTORY MAKING HAYMAKERS; BUFF LOSES CROWN TO VILLA

PANCHO VILLA

IN THE ELEVENTH ROUND, CHANNY HAD ENOUGH OF THE GLOVES AND GAVE UP THE CHAMPIONSHIP

BOWLING with the CHAMPION Jimmy Smith

TYPE OF BALL

I advise the beginner to start using the straight ball. It's easier to control. He can shoot it for the center or on the right side, letting it work into the pins.

A hook or curve ball is generally considered a more destructive delivery. If a hook is used it should be what is known as a working hook; that is, a half-speed ball along the right side of the alley, working it so it takes the curve as it nears the pins.

Don't use speed. At least not at first. Speed doesn't really knock down any more pins and it kills the hook because it doesn't give it a chance to work. A half-speed ball allows the wood a chance to work as the ball cuts through.

Remember this: That great speed is not necessary to success. This is contrary to the general thought, I know. But some of the most famous bowlers use a slow ball; others prefer a half-speed one.

It takes quite a bit of practice to master and control the hook. And until you're sure you've done so, stick to the straight ball.

Tomorrow: The 1-3 Pocket.

Villa responded to each lead by Buff with five blows of his own, beating a tattoo on Johnny's face and body like cold November rain slapping on a tavern roof.

As the fight wore on Buff's confidence grew. His speed of hand and foot was so great he made you think of a bumble bee darting in and out while his enemy struck wildly and ineffectually.

Johnny weakened perceptibly in the sixth. He had put his full force in a straight punch that landed squarely, without slowing the Golden Atom in the least. It seemed to take the heart out of American.

The blow that told ringersiders they were gazing upon a new champion came in the tenth. Buff ventured a left. Villa responded with a rush and flurry of fists. Out of the confusion there suddenly darted a little brown right glove that crashed squarely into Buff's jaw.

The champion staggered half way across the ring. Villa was after him like a cat after a mouse. Both hands swinging, he rocked Buff from side to side with a fusillade of blows. A stray right connected with Johnny's jaw and he toppled to his hands and knees.

Makes Serious Mistake

Buff, badly muddled, made his

MALAMUTE RACE, 'SNOW CLASSIC' BEGINS; BRUTES OF NORTH READY FOR ICE BATTLE

THE PAS, MANTOBA, Jan. 26.—The "Classic of the Snow," the 120 mile malamute race, was to start near here today.

From the North country came the trapper, the trader, the hunter and the freight hauler to match his huskies against the best in the world.

No lap dogs, these but brutes—vicious, pulling demons—whose only task is to run like the wind and whose only reward is a bit of frozen fish at the end of the haul. Charging on, oft times with ice cut feet, with shoulders harness weary, but driven by hearts that know no quitting.

Here is gathered the celebrities of the "mushers" world—Bill Grayson, seven dogs; Earl Brydges seven dogs; Harry Olenky, nine dogs; Ross Moxley seven dogs; and Emil St. Godard, seven dogs.

This year's derby has been divided into three days of racing, 40 heart breaking miles to the day and will call for the best man and dog has to offer, for in order to keep in the running the team must sprint most of the way.

N. Y. EXPECTED TO KILL, CURE LAW ON BOUTS

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Some changes in the New York boxing law, designed to cure or kill the sport, are expected during the current session of the state legislature.

While boxing has flourished here as nearly possible as it can flourish, there have been many recent complaints about bad decisions, excessive prices and infringement of personal liberty.

Among the milder voiced critics are Mayor James J. Walker, sponsor of the boxing bill, who suggests that the old style of getting a decision from the referee would be better than the system of a referee and two judges in the jury box.

In the reorganization of state departments, the legislature already has been asked to abolish the boxing commission and as far as boxing is concerned it looks like a movement to kill boxing humanely by gas instead of by clubbing to death as the sport never could exist without the closest supervision.

James A. Farley, chairman of the commission, said that boxing would die automatically if the commission were abolished, but "Duke" Muldoon differs with him. Farley, it is gathered, doesn't care much what happens to the game, but Muldoon defends it as being a big brother financially to the state.

Tex Rickard, in the past campaigns, has been the leader in the support of the game but he is lukewarm now and may not turn his hand to muster some defensive forces.

WILLARD GRADUATES IN WEEK OF SPORTS

By FLETCHER BUXTON

Graduates of the Frances E. Willard Junior high school have planned an extensive program of athletics for their last week in the local institution.

Yesterday they tangled with the school in a game of indoor, and received the short end of a 13 to 4 score.

Today they meet the far-famed faculty basketball team and they will have to set a fast pace if they expect to put it over their pedagogues.

On Wednesday the big event will come off when the graduates fight with the low lines in a sack rush. The low lines have the edge on weight and should win but you never can tell what may happen.

Friday the graduates have another basketball tilt with the first team of the school, this being the last day of the series.

Jack Dempsey To Scrap at Denver

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, will appear in a four-round exhibition at Denver, Colo., on Feb. 12, it was announced here today by Roy Benton, his secretary.

The champion leaves Miami Friday for Havana, Cuba, where he is to make an appearance also, according to a wire from Dempsey to Benton.

first serious mistake of the fight at this point. Without waiting for the count to give him a chance to round up some widely scattered wits, he staggered back to his feet and tried to slug with Villa. A blurred flurry—and spectators had their second glimpse of Buff skidding to the canvas, his nose neatly dividing the resin for several inches.

As the champion lay squirming on the floor, with Referee Patsy Haley slowly chanting him out, the bell tinkled, saving Buff from a certain knockout.

Buff's seconds did what they could with him during the breathing spell, but Johnny came out for the eleventh still out on his feet. Villa met him with a storm of lefts and rights, buffeting the groggy champion like a reed in a storm. Buff finally dropped his hands hopelessly and at that moment a towel sailed into the ring.

COACH ADMITS SEEKING POST UNDER WARNER

Interviews Card Athletic Heads But Says He Won't Know Luck Until Spring

Frankly admitting that his sudden and mysterious expedition to Stanford University over the past week-end was for the purpose of interviewing members of the athletic board of control there relative to the appointment of a successor to Andy Kerr, assistant football coach, Charles ("Chuck") Winterburn, popular Santa Ana high school mentor, had resumed his duties at the local institution today. He returned from the North late yesterday.

"I've no idea whatever whether I will be named to succeed Kerr," Winterburn told The Register today. "I talked with the Stanford athletic chiefs and I let them know I wouldn't be adverse to taking the post if it were offered to me. That's about all there is to say. I had hoped for no publicity because it won't help my chances but the campus correspondents for the San Francisco newspapers saw me with Pop and that's how it leaked out, I guess."

"So you saw 'Pop' Warner?" Winterburn was asked.

Stays With Warner

"Oh, yes," the Santa Ana coach replied. "I was a guest at his home while I was up there."

"Do you believe you have a chance to land the position?" the interviewer asked Winterburn.

"I haven't any idea. You can't blame a fellow for trying to better himself. When Andy Kerr resigned I figured I had as much right as anyone else to go after the job. That's why I went North."

"No action will be taken at Stanford until spring. The appointment of a coach must be made the same as the appointment of a professor. It must be approved by several bodies and must have the o. k. of President Wilbur. I'll just have to sit tight and see what happens."

"I have many friends in Santa Ana and I should regret leaving but you couldn't hardly blame me for taking a position like this one if I can land it. If you were offered a job as sporting editor of a Los Angeles newspaper you'd grab it wouldn't you?"

Saw "Red" Play Tigers

Winterburn attended the game in San Francisco between "Red" Grange's Chicago Bears and the San Francisco Tigers which the bay city eleven won, 14 to 9. The Santa Ana, by the way, went to this contest with "Pop" Warner. Winterburn said it was a pitiful exhibition of football, that both sides fumbled miserably and that Grange looked no better than an ordinary football player.

"He got just about as far as he did against our team in that Los Angeles game," Winterburn said. "He was nailed behind the line of scrimmage most of the time and he made absolutely no effort to run interference or make tackles unless he had to. But you can't blame Red if the public is glibly enough to fall for that kind of stuff which shouldn't be get away with it?"

BOWLING

WILLARD GRADUATES IN WEEK OF SPORTS

By FLETCHER BUXTON

Graduates of the Frances E. Willard Junior high school have planned an extensive program of athletics for their last week in the local institution.

Yesterday they tangled with the school in a game of indoor, and received the short end of a 13 to 4 score.

Today they meet the far-famed faculty basketball team and they will have to set a fast pace if they expect to put it over their pedagogues.

On Wednesday the big event will come off when the graduates fight with the low lines in a sack rush. The low lines have the edge on weight and should win but you never can tell what may happen.

Friday the graduates have another basketball tilt with the first team of the school, this being the last day of the series.

The TANGLE

(An intimate story of innermost emotions revealed in private letters.)

LETTER FROM RUTH BURKE TO LESLIE PRESCOTT

I am writing, dear Leslie, first, to let you know I am well enough to write. I know you hated to leave me when I was still so very ill. Secondly, I wish to introduce to you, by letter, the loveliest baby that was ever permitted to come into this world. She is lying beside my bed in that gorgeous bassinet that you bought while you were here for your god-daughter, Leslie Ruth Burke.

Walter is getting well fast and with the advent of the baby and my convalescence, he has become his old self and we all are very happy. I wish I were going to be well enough to go over to see the taking of Paula Perier's picture, "Hot Steel," at the mill. I suppose Jack is very glad, however, that I shall not be able to come. I'm sure he is very nervous for fear everything will not go right, after that accident at the mill. Tell him not to worry about it, however, for such things do not come in pairs.

Great Scott! Don't you feel rich with all the money you got from your pearls? I must tell you that Walter brought home to baby Leslie a wonderful pearl the other day and declared his intention of adding to it until he got a grand string, and I made him take it right back to the jeweler.

You see, what you have done to your god-child. You have kept her out of a gorgeous string of pearls. After the burglaries and Zoe's tragic death, I have always felt I would never want to see another of the little milk-white beads as long as I live.

Walter has just come in and says:

"Tell Leslie, that if little Jack behaves himself and grows up as fine as he is now, we'll give him the first choice for baby Leslie's hand."

"He'll have to wait some young man though," he said, "to be good enough to ask for the tiny little hand of Miss Leslie Ruth Burke."

Isn't he silly?—but right down in my heart I wish that some day it might be so.

While I've been lying here in bed, the last few days I have been thinking what a wonderful thing our friendship has been and is, Leslie. I think God that it has been my privilege to call you "friend." There was a time in my life when if you had not stood beside me I would not have wanted to live. Always in any trouble you were there. What grand things we will have to talk about when we are grandmas. Tell Jack I said that. It will give him a laugh.

Dearest Leslie, I want you to know that many, many times a day I paraphrase that couplet of Whit—"One woman friend my life has made."

I have never been betrayed. Whitner would probably turn over in his grave if he heard it, but it's the truth if not poetry. I love you always, dear.

CYNTHIA GREY

ASKS: Is There Something Behind Those Glowing Appeals to Femininity?

BY CYNTHIA GREY

Are you a hellrope woman, or a Parma violet lady? Does your personality call for the flavor of dew-drenched jasmine, or can't your ego struggle along without a little dash of cerise narcissus?

I have been reading the ads which are appearing nowadays in the woman's magazines.

The perfume ads especially have intrigued me. The same copy writers who sold carloads of lingerie by "matching style and color to type," evidently have taken new jobs with the ambergris distillers.

They patter long and loud about the crudity of any refined woman dousing her handkerchief with violet perfume when, if she would only have her personality diagnosed by a phrenologist and perfume specialist, she would know that no handkerchief must ever be put to her nostrils which does not convey the aroma of buckwheat fields in the spring.

Crystal Jade inquires one headline. "Never, never, never, if you would be known as the woman of refinement, use any perfume but Gollie's crystal jade—that haunting, tantalizing, elusive, esoteric odor which gives sun to your hair and emerald glint to your eyes!"

Help, help, help-up!

What a lot of bunk is fed us womenfolk!

A double-page spread of "Cos-tumes Pour Le Country." White and pink and orchid and pale green pleated crepe do chine skirts with equally fragile sweaters and pastel hats!

"No woman will venture into the woodlands of the southland unless she wears one of these chic ramble costumes. The woman of propriety never neglects to show her innate refinement by appearing in even the most rustic spots garbed in those delicate costumes which mark The Woman Who Knows."

Grr! Donner and blitzen!

Old Oxfords

I am thinking of my old brown oxfords "pour de country" that have waded through so many marigold bogs and trillium swamps that they bear the tracings of a rich, gooey, chocolate coating of mud that will never come off!

What does it all mean? With-er does it all tend?

There must be enough members of our sex to bite and eat and swallow this pap, or commerce wouldn't spend money upon it!

That alone makes me blush.

But what of its effect on the women whose nearest approach to "matching personality to perfume" is the sneaky purchase of a ten-cent bottle of lilac by mail with money fished from "the butter and egg money can?"

"My life seems more unsatisfying every year," a farm woman told me not long ago. "I think it's the magazines and the ads. They make me realize the fearful chasm between my life and that of other women. They make me feel sorry for myself and at the same time ashamed of everything I can hope for."

"But"—she added, "I can't get along without them."

And—perhaps, the answer is here! Some women buy cerise narcissus perfume to match their gabbling intricate personalities!

Other women get a kick by reading about this phenomenon so remote from their own lives!

I must confess that in spite of my fury I enjoy the ads!

Menus for the Family

BY SISTER MARY

Breakfast—Stewed dried peaches, cereal, thin cream, scrambled eggs, tomato sauce, crisp graham toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Pigs in blankets, lettuce sandwiches, sponge cake, cake pudding, milk, tea.

Dinner—Boiled porterhouse steak, mashed potatoes, baked onions, grapefruit salad, whole wheat bread, nut and date pudding, milk, coffee.

The addition of tomato sauce to scrambled eggs mean much to the value of the dish. Eggs being a "bland" food in and of themselves, need the tartness of tomatoes to "pep" them up a bit. Tomatoes being rich in vitamins, are a valuable asset to the breakfast menu of a child who must carry his luncheon to school.

Sponge cake pudding uses up stale sponge cake to advantage.

Sponge Cake Pudding.

Twelve thin narrow slices of sponge cake, 1-2 cup peach or apricot jam, 2 cups boiled custard.

Cut the sponge cake in pieces the size and shape of lady fingers. Spread each piece with jam and put into a deep dish. Pour over boiled custard and let stand two or three hours or until the cake absorbs the custard. Serve with or without whipped cream.

Boiled Custard.

Two cups milk, yolks 3 eggs, 1-3 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Scald milk in double boiler. Beat egg yolks slightly with salt and sugar. Slowly add milk, beating constantly. Return to double boiler and cook over hot water until mixture coats the spoon. Stir constantly while cooking to make the custard smooth. Remove from heat and add vanilla. Pour hot over the cake.

Correct Clothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion

NEVER BE CAUGHT OFF GUARD
January is a period when correct dress, in the minds of many men, is between hay and grass, as the farmer puts it. Or, adopting the top-of-the-literary highbrow, January is between Scylla and Charybdis. Weary of winter and with spring in prospect, the temptation is great to "try and get by" with a seedy suit or a well-worn overcoat upon the specious plea that it's too late for one season and too early for the other. Lord Chesterfield wrote to his son: "It is a characteristic of the gentleman that he is never caught off guard: that the strict attention he pays to his appearance does not vary; that no circumstance or emergency finds him wanting either in his apparel or deportment." This sums up the obligation of correct dress by one of its illustrious practitioners. It is just as true in 1926 as it was in 1726.

The old idea that fashion changed radically every few months and that what was acquired this season must be discarded next season may still govern women, but it does not govern men. We have outgrown this sort of thing. Differences in style from one season to another are slight and do not affect becomingness to the affect propriety of color. They do not affect becomingness to the immediate replacement of any article of wear which requires it.

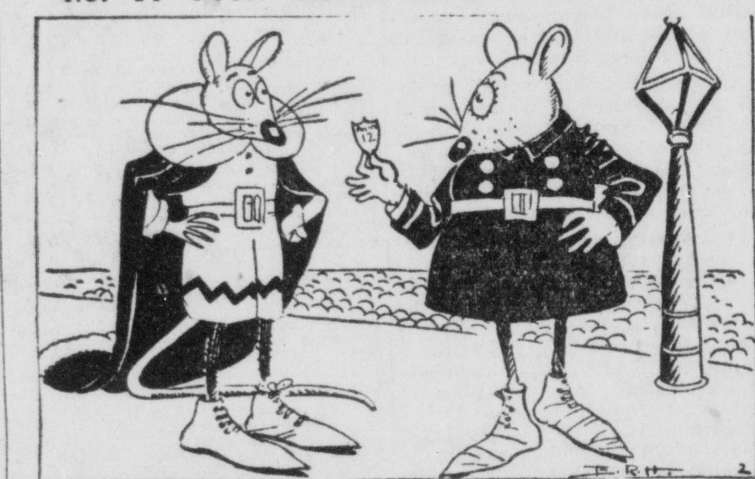

Moreover, the wardrobe which is assembled gradually and added to regularly lays the least financial burden upon the wearer precisely as the saving of money in small amounts feels easier than in large sums. Indeed, the clothes a man owns are an investment, not a disbursement, returning dividends in pride, pleasure and personal prestige. Again, don't acquire clothes by the season. Acquire them as, if and when the need arises.

For example, the ulster or 3-button double-breasted greatcoat of the type portrayed in the accompanying sketch is a capital over-garment to possess right now. Its outstanding features are the split sleeves for added ease and the arm-play and the deep, pouch-like patch pockets to give that leisurely, sportmanlike look which so many men like. The length is roundabout 48 inches. The garment is full box or semi-box. The preferred woollens are fleecy of surface.

NO. 14—POOR MISTER HAVALOOK'S COLLAR

"Here, Mr. Sniff. Here's my badge. I resign right now."

"Where can we get fish-hooks to go fishing in the laundry pool?" asked poor Mister Havalook.

"Pins will do," said Nick. "I've used them lots of times."

"But where shall we get pins?" asked Nancy. "I didn't bring a single one along."

"Oh, I have loads," said fat Mrs. Jiggs, turning her back.

Everybody laughed, for Mrs. Jiggs had enough pins in her apron and dress to start a pin factory.

"Don't tell anyone," she said, "but I have on three dresses, two petticoats and an apron. It took every pin the Pinchusion Doll owned to get me together before I came."

"Now for some strings!" said Nick when Mrs. Jiggs' pins were all bent into fish hooks. "Where can we get string for fishing lines?"

"Here," spoke up Miss Pithers, the yarn lady. "I'm made of string. Here's a rip with an end sticking out. Just pull and you'll get yards and yards. It will do me good to reduce anyway."

"Now for bait?" said Nick. "What shall we do for bait?"

"Oh, ho, ho, ho!" shouted all the Hidy Go Land people. "We don't need bait to fish for handkerchiefs in a laundry drain."

"That's so," laughed Nick. "I forgot. Now you lead the way, Miss Raggedy and we'll follow."

"It's a nice clean drain," explained the Rag Doll. "Laundry water, which is a perfectly beautiful blue, and reminds one of the sky."

"Won't we find any cheese?" asked the policeman rat who always seemed to be hungry.

"I don't think so," said Raggedy. "I never saw any. Only water bugs."

"Who wants water bugs?" sniffed the rat. "Here, Mister Sniff Whisker. Here's my badge. I resign right now. I'm going back to Ash Can Town and live in peace."

"We think the same way!" cried

all the other rats. "We all resign. We were sure there was some cheese at the bottom of this business and now that there isn't we all quit here and now."

And off they marched, taking their tails with them.

"Good riddance," said Sniff Whisker. "I'll stay, however, as I hear that sometimes laundry soap or starch float down the drain. And I do love starch. It tastes like tapioca pudding."

One by one the dolls went through the dark tunnel, followed by Nancy and Nick and Mister Havalook.

When they came out on the other side, the sun was shining and there was a big beautiful blue lake. Just as the Rag Doll had said. Blue with sudsy waves all over it that looked like white caps on the sea.

"Let's sit around the edge in a row," said Belinda.

"Yes, let's," said Calamity Jane. "Perhaps I can catch something that would make me a dress. I'm tired of going around without a stitch to my name. And now that I have two arms and two legs and two eyes, I should like to be covered. Perhaps the odds and ends I am made of won't show so much then."

"All ready. Throw in your lines," said Nick.

So Belinda and Calamity Jane and Miss Pithers and Mrs. Jiggs and Black Dinah and Teddy and Limber Long Legs, pulling up his line. "What in the world can it be?"

"Mister Havalook looked astonished. "It's one of my collars that didn't come home from the laundry," he said.

Why Have Gray Hair?

Don't deceive yourself. No one really wants gray hair. The world accepts it as a sign that you are aging—and the world wants Youth.

Thousands of men and women whose hair was gray or becoming "streaked" have tried Kolor-Bak—and they are frankly delighted at the improvement it has made in their appearance.

For, with the aid of this clean, colorless liquid, gray hair regains its natural shade—not overnight as is so awkward and embarrassing when mussy dyes are used—but so gradually that the change can scarcely be seen from day to day. Yet results often appear in a week.

Kolor-Bak has the added virtues of a tonic. It gives the hair a beautiful softness and lustre and at the same time rids dandruff. Try it. No sample of your hair is required. The same bottle may be used by everyone. And you can get your money back if desired results do not appear. Guarantee in each package.

RAIN! RAIN! IS CRY AT TUSTIN AS MOON TIPS

Despite Plentitude of Umbrellas and Weather Prophets, No Precipitation

By EDITH JOHNSON.

TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 26.—At present, and for some time in the past, rain has been the chief topic. Everyone wants rain, that is, everyone, but those selfish individuals who never take into consideration the feeling of the thirsty plants and trees. For, although there are weather prophets and weather prophets, and weather signs and more weather signs, which foretell rain, still there is no rain.

Many people who, heretofore, have had implicit faith in their weather signs, are beginning to lose faith in them. Perhaps their prophecies are falling because they do not interpret the weather signs correctly, or even fully.

For instance, they often omit the important point of where it will rain. Nearly everyone has heard, "Red sky in the morning, sailors take warning." At those times perhaps it does rain out on the ocean—but that only waters the seaweeds, which doesn't do much good on land.

When a rooster crows before 10 p. m., when a yellow hammer sings a certain song; when blackbirds sit on the telephone wire when flies persist in hanging around the doors, and coming in at the first chance they get; when dogs or cats eat grass; when the crows caw or fly; when the smoke comes down to earth; or when somebody's corns ache—where other signs of rain which fail to tell where it will rain. These things are continually happening and it is always raining somewhere—but where?

A ring around the moon indicates that it will rain—and the number of stars inside the ring tell how many days there will be before the rain—but the moon shines over wide stretches of territory, which eliminates the "where."

One sign that would be sure—if it were not for the fickleness in their nature—is the clouds.

When people are seen carrying umbrellas around, it is usually an indication that they expect it may rain where they are. One person at Tustin union high school who has not lost his faith in his weather sign, Mr. Crafts, the famous janitor. He says that the only sure way of telling is by the way the crescent of the moon is tipped. If it is at such an angle that the water can run out of the crescent, it will surely rain soon.

On the night of Sunday, January 24, Mr. Crafts stated that he read in the moon certain indications of rain. Therefore, he predicts "rain in Tustin within the next two weeks."

Mojave Desert Has Thrill for Young Visitors

By LEONA JACKSON

FULLERTON UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 26.—How many have seen the California desert? If you haven't been to see it you've missed a wonderful sight, especially at the present time, when it is in bloom for the first time in four years. The blooms are varied in colors, however, the lavender and white predominate, but as they fade away into the horizon your eye sees a floating blanket of lavender which fades away into a deep purple of the horizon.

Last Sunday Bernardine Darnell, Marie Cline, Chuck Thamer and Bert Phegley motored to the Mojave desert. Another party also enjoyed the desert splendor and agree that it's the prettiest sight they have seen for a long time. They were Winnie Mae Hardy, Lois Everett, Ernie Everett and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell.

"Not So Fast" To Be Given Soon By Drama Class

By CELESTINE WHITE.

TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 26.—Unlike other tests, the quarterly examination for the dramatics class will be a try-out for parts in the drama class play "Not So Fast." The lines for each part have been given out to the students and work has been begun on the memorizing.

The class has been divided into four groups. Each group is expecting to practice together, appoint a director and carry out the plan of action and scenery. On the day of the examination, Jan. 28, each group will present its part of the play and will be graded according to the degree of perfection shown in the presentation. At the same time the characters will be chosen.

Elect Thorman President Of Tustin Students

By MARGIE EDMUNDS

TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 26.—Charles Thorman, a senior and prominent member of T. U. H. S., was elected president on Friday, January 22 when a close election for student body officers was held. Comments heard about the halls and campus after the election were staunchly approving the selection of the students for the majority of the offices. Charles Thorman has been a member of the Tustin high school for all the years of his high school course and is endorsed by his fellow-students as a remarkable candidate for the presidency. He succeeds Lon McIntire, who has been the chief executive for the past semester.

Other officers elected by the Friday ballots are as follows: Vice president, John Newman; secretary, Louise Artz; treasurer, Leota Sears; boys' athletic manager, Paul Beards; girls' athletic manager, Don Park; forensics manager, Betty Palmer; yell leaders, Robert Chapman and William Harkleroad; song leader, Charlotte Browne.

HOPI INDIANS THANK PUPILS FOR CLOTHING

By ANNA PICKERING

HUNTINGTON BEACH UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 26.—In return for some clothing sent to the Hopi Indians of Tereva, Arizona, Mrs. Sallie G. Noble received a very nice note of thanks from Mrs. Rae B. Ruhl, field matron, and Gladys Noble received a letter from a small Indian school girl, thanking her for a coat she sent. The notes read as follows:

Tereva, Arizona,

January 14, 1926.

"Dear Mrs. Noble:

"I have written Mrs. McKelvey, Mrs. Downs, Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Charles, thanking them for the things they gave you for the Hopis. The Hopis were very glad of the things. Inez is very proud of her coat. The men were glad, too. The long grey coat, given by Velma Williams, went to the best old man among the Hopis. You see the women wear shawls. The school girls wear coats sometimes. Inez likes to wear coats. The old men go around in winter with women's coats on and wear them as a prince would in a sable coat.

"I thank you very much for the things. They came out with the mail man.

"Love to the girls and yourself.

"Rae B. Ruhl."

"Second Mesa, Tereva, Arizona,

January 15, 1926.

"My Dearest Friend Gladys:

"Well just a short letter to you tonight in order to let you know how much I appreciate your coat. "So I am just going to say thank you for your nice coat. It is very cold up here so I am very glad when Mrs. Ruhl gave me the coat.

"So I thank you ever so much. I enclose my best wishes in regard to you. Wishing you a happy new year, so goodbye, so long.

"From your friend,

"Inez Schomema."

During the summer the Nobles made an extended trip into Arizona. While they were there they studied the conditions of the Indians, and made many friends among the Hopis.

Announce Teams To Do Debating For Faculty Cup

By MARY GARR

GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 26.—Eunice Bragg and Anna Reid will uphold the affirmative team for the sophomores while Pearl Black and Beth Cosner the negative side for the juniors at the debate to be held in the library Friday, period A. The question for debate will be, "Resolved, that the study of hygiene is essential for every high school student."

At the same time "Resolved, that final examination papers should receive a lower grade if they contain spelling, punctuation, or grammatical errors, or if they are blotched or written in a careless handwriting" will be debated by the freshmen and sophomores.

Those upholding the affirmative side of the question for the freshmen are Lucille Conaway and John Mitchell; for the sophomores, Clark Hayhurst and Allyn Rice. The speeches are to be three minutes in length and the rebuttals two minutes.

The class having won the most votes will receive a cup given by the faculty. This cup is given to encourage students to enter debating and to give them practice in speaking before an audience.

Garden Grove Junior Class To Give Three Act Comedy at Grammar School

By CLARICE CAMPBELL

GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 26.—"Professor Pepp," a three-act farcical comedy, is the junior class play to be given on February 13 at the Garden Grove grammar school auditorium. The admission to be charged is thirty-five cents and reserved seats can be obtained at Darling's pharmacy for 50c.

"Professor Pepp" is a college play with plenty of college spirit, yells and songs and is full of laughs from the time the curtain goes up until it falls.

There will be a large cast with some very fine character parts in the cast, such as the policeman, the maiden aunt, the middle-aged beau and the professor. Russian nihilists, football heroes and pretty college co-eds also appear in the play.

The characters are: Professor Peterkin Pepp, a nervous wreck—Marvin Ryan.

C. B. Buttonbust, a giddy butterfly of forty-eight—Keneth Har-

Howard Green, his son, who had the courts change his name—Brooks Stroud.

Sim Batty, the police force of a college town—Rush Bumardner.

Peddler Benson, working his way through school—Robert Prior.

Noisy Fleming, just out of high school—George Dolf.

Pink Hatcher, an athletic sophomore—Jesse Davidson.

Buster Brown, a vociferous junior—Carl Morgan.

Kitty Clover, the professor's ward—Rosemary Thomason.

Aunt Minerva Boulder, the professor's housekeeper—Mabel Jones.

Petunia Muggins, the hired girl—Mary Dolf.

Olga Stopski, the new teacher of folk-dancing—Clarice Campbell.

Kitty Clover, a collector of souvenirs—Ethel Brown.

Vivian Drew, a college belle—Dorelda Kenworthy.

Irene Van Hilt, a social leader—Mildred Dunlap.

Caroline Kay, the happy little freshman—Helen Knox.

HONOR STUDENTS GET PRIVILEGES

By LOUISE VANCE.

TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 26.—According to those in the Honor Society, it certainly pays to belong to such an organization, for at a special meeting called during the first period on Thursday, January 21, the members decided upon two privileges to be had by members only.

The two things decided upon were the abolishing of transfers for the worthy honor students. That is, those who belong to the Honor Society need not take the time nor trouble to have a transfer "filled out. Instead they will merely write their names, the name of the teacher to whom they are going, and the time they leave, on a paper provided for the purpose on the desk of the student hall teacher.

In addition to the privileges it was voted to give a bronze plaque to the school which will be hung in the office, or some other prominent place. Upon the plaque will be engraved the name of the highest honor student of every year, and the name of the winner of the Principal's good citizenship medal. Much discussion followed after the granting of these privileges by Mr. Means, the principal. It seems that the subject under the most discussion was the omission of either the first or eighth periods of the school program for the honor students. This matter was practically "laid on the table," as Mr. Means declared he would "have to think it over."

H. B. Girls Have Tennis Tourney; To Enter League

By ANNA PICKERING

HUNTINGTON BEACH UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 26.—For the first time the Huntington Beach high school is going to enter a girls' tennis team in the tournaments. This week the first round of the elimination matches are being played. The players are: Cora Mefford vs. Eya, Ethel Osborne vs. Marjorie Hunt, Margaret Treathouse vs. Lucy Gilmore; score 6-4 in favor of Cook. Norma Reed vs. Alice Hill; score 6-1 in favor of Hill.

Ruth Blevins vs. Pauline Prescott; score 8-2 in favor of Prescott. Anna Pickering vs. Mildred Whitesel; score 6-3 in favor of Pickering.

Doris Lihon vs. Eya.

The second round will be played January 25 to 29. The third, February 1 to 4. The winners of the third round will then be ably coached by Miss Dupes and entered into tournaments with other schools in the county.

THINK IT OVER

Thrift should be practiced in high school. It would be both interesting and helpful. There are a great many students who work outside of school hours. Instead of spending the earnings wastefully on luxuries, a part should be saved and deposited in some bank.

There are many who spend every penny as fast as it is earned and sometimes faster. They do this because they haven't learned the habit of saving or the fun of saving.

Throughout the United States the school savings plan has been established. In some schools regular banking departments have been opened, conducted exclusively by students elected to the various positions.

There is a banking department in one of the high schools of Orange county. Fullerton's school bank has been a success for at least four years. It has proved to be one of the leading student enterprises of the school.

The bank equipment is equal to that of many middle west banking institutions. All the steps in banking practice are taught.

The officers of the bank are selected by the board of directors who are members of the class in law, money and banking. They select a president, vice president and cashier.

The bank handles savings accounts and also student body funds. Through the school year of 1923 the officers handled more than $60,000. Each day the savings accounts are placed in one of the commercial banks of the city.

You can see by this what a great thing it is and what results Fullerton has received. Wouldn't it be wonderful to have an Anaheim Union High School bank?

THRIFT IN TIME

What a subject is "Thrift in Time" to be forced upon the ears of students. Probably none of us has ever tried to keep tab on our time and use each minute advantageously and profitably.

Saving of time is the foundation of all economy and waste of the same leads to mental and moral laxness. We cannot afford to waste time; it is precious and valuable.

A loss of time, in our later life, will mean a loss of money, even as lost time may mean defeat in sports.

The Orange lightweights won from Anaheim with a basket made as the final whistle blew; every second counted and that is an excellent example of the value of a moment.

Wasting of time is only a habit and can be overcome by hard work. Let us budget our work, make a time-table of our day from morning till bedtime.

Practice thrift of time at home and school alike. If half our wasted moments were utilized in study, the honor society would be a prodigious affair. Of course, one must play and keep physically fit. We should allot part of our time to recreation. We should practice promptness and be on time. Our employers and our teachers demand that and we owe it to ourselves.

If we practice these little time-saving habits we are pushing ourselves on toward the top of the ladder and success in our efforts.

"To him who does everything in its proper place, one day is worth three."

FINAL EXAMINATIONS

Are final examinations necessary for high school students?

Many times this question has been argued between faculty and students. Looking at it from every standpoint you will find facts both for and against examinations.

Do examinations really test a student's ability?

There are students who care and there are those who do not. To the latter, an examination is merely a milestone which must be passed, hit or miss, and if he "passes it by the skin of his teeth" he thinks he is showing marked ability minus studying.

The more studious pupil revels in testing his knowledge of certain facts and spends hours in preparing for an examination. He is passing a milestone, too, but to him that milestone adds one more notch to his credit.

Examinations break into the daily routine of class recitals for almost five days, a fact which cannot be overlooked. In connection with this course the question "are examinations valuable enough to cover this loss of time?"

An examination shows a teacher just how well he has conducted his classes for what is well learned is not soon forgotten; and that reminds us that if a student really concentrates each day finals will not be so edious.

A STEP ON LADDER OF SUCCESS.

Thrift, a step on the ladder of success, is not only meant for adults but for young people as well. It may mean even more to young people than to adults, for, if the habit is acquired early in life, it is much easier to continue it. If you don't help yourself in life, no one else will. True, you may have wealthy parents who give you an allowance, but not everyone is born with a silver spoon in his mouth. This rosy state of affairs is well and good—if the receiver is not a worthless spendthrift.

Parasites live on the resources and gains of another. Earn your allowance. Don't be a parasite. You are a poor specimen of humanity if you cannot uphold your own end of the proposition. Buckle down to business and show the world you're not made up of alloy metal. "There-

GLEE CLUB OF U. S. C. PLEAS H. B. ASSEMBLY

By ANNA PICKERING

HUNTINGTON BEACH UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 26.—On Friday, January 22, the students were enjoyably entertained by the Trojan glee club of U. S. C. The numbers offered were:

"The Lights of Cowtown,"—Ruffner.

"The Lamp in the West,"—Horatio Parker.

"Jolly Fellows,"—Rhys Herbert.

"Eight Bells,"—A. Van Othegroven.

"Southern California Dream Land."

"Old Man Noah."

"College Alma Mater."

The various other numbers on the program were:

"Turkish March," by Beethoven, and "Staccato Etude," by Rubenstein, piano solos played by Earle Stone.

"Toreador," song from "Carmen," Bizet, and "The Cashmere Song," baritone solos rendered by Robert Taylor.

"Oh Golden Sun," and an encore by Lewis Silva.

Two numbers by the Trojan quartet composed of Cohen, Conaway, Riske and Campbell.

A clever "Russian Interpretive Folk Dance" was given by S. Cohen and P. Homen.

The members of the club are: R. Bithelheimer, Scherill Cohen, C. W. By BETTY PALMER

TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 26.—The first semester will be over Friday, January 29. With book reports and term papers finished, everyone is feverishly studying for the quarterly examinations which come on Thursday and Friday, January 28 and 29.

Special classes are to change next week. Studies will be dropped to make lighter work and subjects will be added to give more credit.

GIVE WELCOME TO TEACHER AT BEACH SCHOOL

By MARY HARRINGTON

HUNTINGTON BEACH UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 26.—On last Wednesday, January 20, Miss Wedel, last year's Spanish teacher of Huntington Beach Union high school, was heartily welcomed back to her work by members of her second and third year classes.

Principal M. S. Jones called her out of the room and upon returning she was greeted by flowers, fruit candy and nuts, which were piled on her desk.

Miss Wedel was the Spanish teacher last year but due to a nervous breakdown during vacation she was unable to return until now. All the students as well as faculty members are glad to have Miss Wedel with them again.

FACULTY MEMBERS FROLIC MARCH 19

By MARY HARRINGTON

ANAHEIM UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 26.—The next party of the members of the faculty of Anaheim union high school has been set for March 19.

Miss Bickley, Mrs. Watson, Mrs. Owens and Mr. Rinehart are in charge of the arrangements. The table committee includes Mrs. Cavender, Mrs. Schulz, Miss Walker and Mrs. Hesselink.

Orange Peals

ORANGE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 26.—Through the efforts of Mr. Fishback, the civics classes were able to attend the naturalization session of the court at Santa Ana. Judge Z. B. West was the presiding judge and the United States examiner from Los Angeles conducted the questioning.

There were a variety of countries represented by these men and women desiring citizenship; one from Czechoslovakia; two from England; one from Wales; one from Norway; one from Germany; and three women who had married British subjects and who were asking for citizenship.

Before the applicants were examined, their witnesses were questioned as to the applicants' morality. Some of the applicants seemed very nervous and were slightly "fussed" when it came their turn to be questioned. As a whole, they all seemed to have spent considerable time in studying the constitution and answered some questions that some of the seniors could not. The applicant was asked his or her belief in polygamy or anarchy.

The journalism classes of the various high schools in Orange county have a Press association. Garden Grove had the meeting Tuesday, Jan. 12. The speakers did not arrive, so the convention took a general turn. Each school chose a representative to tell about their paper. Some very good suggestions were given. It was discussed that Orange is the only school that does not run its annual through the Journalism class.

From present appearances, the 130-pound basketball team is going in for the league. They have won several games so far this season and have also defeated the varsity team. They are led by Captain Alvin Edwards, who, together with Clyde Feldner, makes up a very good pair of guards. Harvey Pease is a good jumping center and has a good eye for the basket. Holland and Heisler at forward round out the combination in great form. All these men are to be back next year with the exception of Heisler.

The most popular girls' sport at the present time is hockey. This is a new sport which was introduced to the girls immediately after the holidays. Many of the girls are coming out for practice each evening. At present the freshmen and senior girls are making the most progress. Interclass try-outs for junior and senior girls will be held February 1. Everyone is welcome to come out to the field after school and watch the girls practice. Monday and Wednesday night the junior and senior girls practice.

GIRL RESERVES ORGANIZED AT GROVE SCHOOL

Officers Elected and Chairman for Committees Appointed at First Meeting

By MABEL JONES

GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 26.—Under the direction of Miss Mabel Culter, a faculty member of Garden Grove high school, an organization of "Girl Reserves" was made last Tuesday morning at the high school, thus making one more link in the chain of nation wide Girl Reserves.

Bessie Gardner was appointed as president; Myrtle Ziegler, vice president; secretary, Alma Schackelford; treasurer, Mary Hess; service committee chairman, Lucille Shackelford; membership committee chairman, Hattie Patterson; program committee chairman, Beth Cosner; and social committee chairman, Margaret Gardner.

Only 12 girls were present at the opening meeting, although the club will probably grow later on. The date for the next meeting is indefinite and will be held at the call of the president.

At that meeting a purpose and code will be chosen by the girls and the question of purchasing pins will be decided.

Some time ago a group of girls, now members of the Girls Reserve, visited the Santa Ana juvenile home. Another visit is being contemplated by the entire club.

Tuesdays and Thursdays the freshmen and sophomores play.

Mrs. Faulkner of the city library gave the feature talk of the Girls' League meeting Wednesday. Her topic was "Reading Books," and as Mrs. Faulkner has had long experience in library work, her talk was of good authority. She emphasized the advisability of reading a variety of good books and thereby broadening the mind. She said that reading along the same lines all together causes the mind to develop

Quick Way to End Dangerous Cough

Why let a dangerous cough hang on when you can, through a simple treatment, get speedy relief and often break it up completely in 24 hours?

This treatment is based on the famous Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs. You take just one teaspoonful and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it. It has a double action. It not only soothes and heals irritation, but also removes the phlegm and congestion which are the real cause of the coughing. So the worst cough quickly disappears.

Dr. King's New Discovery is for coughs, chest colds, bronchitis, spasmodic croup, etc. Fine for children, too—no harmful drugs. Very economical, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. At all good druggists. Ask for

Missionites Win Close Game from Grove Hoopsters

BY RUSH BUMGARDNER
GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 26.—One of the most exciting basketball games ever played in Orange county, was that between Garden Grove union high school and Capistrano union high school at Capistrano last Friday.

The game was so hard fought and there was such a stiff wind blowing that no one could tell which team would be victorious till the final whistle blew.

At the end of the game the score was 12 to 12 but in the extra three minutes the Capistrano boys looped in two baskets, thus making the score 12 to 16 in favor of the Missionites.

The lineup:
Garden Grove: H. Munz (2) F, Williams F, Bumgardner (4) G, Messerall (6) G, Umpruss G.
Capistrano: (12) Olivares, Lobo, (2) Rios, (2) Thomas, Barnes, Dozier for Umpruss; Capistrano, Junany for Thomas.

More Interest In Net Contests As Matches Near

By MARVIN RYAN
GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 26.—Tennis is going to be in the eyes of the high school students during the round-robin tournament to be held soon at Garden Grove by the tennis club. The winner is to be toastmaster at the banquet to be held at the end of the tournament. All members of the club are eligible to play and may enter by signing the paper posted on the bulletin board.

Brooks Stroud is in charge of the tournament and members wishing further details are to see him. This is the first tournament the club has held on the new courts expecting the tournament in which the new members were qualified. Many exciting matches will be played by old rivals and the new material is expected to blossom forth with some contestants who will give the old players a fast run.

Class Colors at Grove Selected By Elimination

By ALMA SHACKELFORD.
GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 26.—Class colors were chosen again by the respective classes of the Garden Grove union high school. A list of colors was presented to each class, the seniors having first choice, the juniors second, the sophomores third, and the freshmen fourth.

The colors were chosen as follows: Seniors, red and white; juniors, green and white; sophomores, blue and gold. The freshmen will wait until next week to choose their colors.

Although this is a new plan there are very good prospects of it being a success. In larger high schools colors are traditional and seem to work out well.

FEW FIRES IN ORANGE, ANNUAL REPORT SHOWS

ORANGE, Jan. 26.—That Orange has the lowest fire record of any city of corresponding size in Southern California was indicated in the annual report of A. L. Tomblin, chief of the Orange volunteer fire department, which was on file today with City Clerk Cal D. Lester. The report will be read at the meeting of the city council next week.

Orange, during the year 1925, suffered fire losses aggregating only $8015, the report states. There were 21 fires during the year and three false alarms.

In practically every case, the losses were covered by insurance. Five of the 21 fires represented automobile fires, three of which occurred in November.

At a recent election, the fire department elected the following officers to serve during 1926: O. E. Linnert, president; Henry Ehlen, vice president; Elmer Ensign, secretary; and Herbert Sisson, treasurer.

Fire Chief Tomblin reappointed the following officers: William G. Hagen, first assistant fire chief; C. E. Dickey, second assistant; A. R. Todhunter, first police; Walter Price, second police; O. E. Linnert, ladder foreman. The truck drivers are William Vickers and D. C. Squires.

Arsonists' Arrest Predicted

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 26.—Hal R. Clark of Los Angeles, promoter of the Pacific Beach club, whose buildings on the ocean front between Huntington Beach and Newport Beach were destroyed by fire last week, declared today that detectives employed by the insurance companies were hot on the trail of the two men believed responsible for the fire. An arrest may be expected in a few days, he said.

L. A. CLUB NEW OWNER COLLINS ISLAND, REPORT

BALBOA, Jan. 26.—Reports were current here today to the effect that property in Newport Bay known as Collins Island has been sold by the owner, C. A. Price, of Santa Ana, to the Los Angeles Athletic Club. The deal is said to be in escrow.

The island is situated at the western end of Balboa island. A large house and several small cottages are at present located on the island. The consideration involved is not known.

According to reports in boat club circles, the Los Angeles organization intends to use the island to further the boating interests of the club.

GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE, Jan. 26.—Mrs. Noah Hunter entertained a few guests in honor of the birthday anniversary of her husband, on Saturday evening. The party was a complete surprise to Mr. Rush.

Five hundred was enjoyed during the evening, with prizes for high score awarded to Mrs. Charles Halling and Mr. Rush.

The hostess served a luncheon of salad, sandwiches, cake and coffee to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Halling, of Muscatine, Ia.; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Stromer and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Haynes.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wright entertained the following dinner guests on Sunday: Mr. Earl Preston, of the U. S. S. Arizona; Miss Evelyn Smith, of Fullerton, and Miss Alora Owens.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Carter and Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Benson, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. J. Propes, of Anaheim, attended the public dedication of the Shrine auditorium in Los Angeles, Saturday evening.

The Business and Professional Women's club will hold its regular monthly meeting and dinner at the Women's Civic clubhouse on January 27 at 6:30 o'clock. The Camp Fire Girls will be guests of the club.

Mr. and Mrs. Leavitt Ford entertained the following guests on Saturday evening: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Richmond and two children, Betty and Jack, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Rosa Ford, of Santa Ana, and Mr. and Mrs. Rexford Magill, of Orange.

ERECTION OF BIG HOTEL AT BEACH PLANNED

BALBOA, Jan. 26.—Plans for a 100-room hotel building which will cost approximately $300,000, were being completed today by a group of local men, who are said to be co-operating with Robert Frick, Los Angeles business man and owner of a large subdivision on Balboa Peninsula, and the Elan property interest.

The proposed building will be located in the southern portion of Balboa. It will be two stories in height and will face on the bay for a distance of several hundred feet. City trustees last week ordered the abandonment of certain streets in the location of the proposed hotel to allow the building to extend along the bay front.

The streets were granted to the city recently by the subdivision interests and councilmen, in reverting the streets back to the owners, made provision that if the hotel is not constructed, the streets will again become city property.

Southern Seas Club Is Popular

BALBOA, Jan. 26.—A large number of persons visited the Southern Seas club during the past week-end. Sunday guests included D. W. Van Club, of Alhambra; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Dundore and Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Royle, of Pasadena; B. A. Dunham, Frank P. Woods and T. R. Woods, of Los Angeles; Gladys E. Francis, W. H. Francis, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bloomfield and Clifford Bloomfield, of Pasadena, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas N. Randall and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Miller, of Eagle Rock; Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Eckert, of Alhambra; Mr. and Mrs. Newton Smith, of Temple; J. S. Fretress, of Los Angeles; J. E. Salley, of Arcadia; G. O. Heslok, of Pasadena; Dr. and Mrs. Robert E. Sherer, of Los Angeles; T. C. Cox, Miss C. M. Beasley, and Mrs. A. A. Bredberg, of Los Angeles.

A dinner party was enjoyed at the club Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Ferl, Mr. and Mrs. B. Bradigan and Miss Emily Ferl. The party was in honor of the birthday anniversary of Miss Ferl.

Week-end guests included Mr. and Mrs. George D. Hoffman, of Pasadena, and Potter Bowles, of Pasadena.

L. D. Wilkinson, of Newport Beach, entertained a number of guests Saturday evening at dinner. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Woods, of Pasadena, Mrs. L. L. Brown and E. M. Weston, of Winona, Minn., and Mrs. Nellie G. Teirliff, of Newport Beach.

Other guests at the club recently were Calvin B. Brown, of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. William H. Hewitt and daughter, of Tacoma, Wn., and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McCreary, of Canada.

Members of the sales force of the Southern Seas club met at the clubhouse on Sunday. Several new members were admitted to the organization and were given their initial ride about the bay by J. P. Greeley, vice president.

LEAGUE DISSENT BROUGHT TO LIGHT

PALO ALTO, Jan. 26.—Civil war in the California Anti-Saloon League, involving the ousting of Prof. Rufus L. Green, Stanford university, as vice president, has been revealed here.

Dissension came to light when trustees of the First Congregational church here refused request of the league that a representative be allowed to speak from the pulpit. Instead, the trustees voted to invite Professor Green to talk on "Why the Large Sums of Money Given the Anti-Saloon League Are Not Yielding More Substantial Returns."

The church authorities took this action when Professor Green charged that he was ousted by "politics," after he had called upon Dr. Arthur H. Briggs, league president, to resign. Green said Briggs told him he would "take the matter under advisement." Briggs did not resign and Green was dismissed.

Engineer Tells Colorado River Aqueduct Plans

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 26.—Plans for another aqueduct to bring water from the Colorado river to Southern California have been revealed here by E. C. LaFue, government hydraulic engineer.

LaFue said he was preparing a report on a project for construction of a gravity aqueduct, at a cost of approximately $200,000,000, to pipe water to Los Angeles and other Southernland points from the controversial Colorado tributary.

The government aqueduct would have a capacity of 15,000 second feet of water.

Bridge canyon, near the old Diamond creek site, Mohave county, Arizona, would be the point of diversion, the federal engineer said.

AIRPLANE PICTURES OF HARBOR AUTHORIZED BY NEWPORT BEACH BOARD

NEWPORT BEACH, Jan. 26.—A series of pictures to be taken from an airplane at a height of 10,000 feet, which will show the entire harbor district, was authorized by the board of city trustees last night.

George Peabody, president of the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce, presented the matter of securing airplane pictures to the trustees. Peabody claimed that maps failed to show the people of the county just how much land was owned by the county on the bay front. The airplane pictures, he claimed, would solve the problem, as a person could easily point out the position and acreage and the investigator could see the location of the land without difficulty.

The picture, which is to be taken by a Los Angeles airplane picture company, will be made up of more than 30 small photos carefully matched. A price of $50 a square mile is charged by the photographers and as there are approximately 14 square miles in the area to be photographed, the cost of the picture will be around $700. City advertising Manager Harry Welch was authorized to have the pictures taken.

The bond of J. A. Porter, marshal, tax, license collector and sanitary inspector was approved by the city trustees last night for the office of city treasurer. Porter was appointed to the position following the resignation of C. A. Thompson and will hold office until the next general election. The bond of the city treasurer was raised from $25,000 to $100,000 by the trustees.

A communication from the Masonic Home was read asking that an improvement district be formed on the southern end of Balboa island and a sea wall built around the island. James B. Jist, vice president of the home, signed themissive.

The salary of F. A. Daley, street and water superintendent, was raised $50 a month.

ANAHEIM LODGE HEADS INSTALLED

ANAHEIM, Jan. 26.—With Fred Dr.'s, past chancellor commander, officiating, officers of the Anaheim Knights of Pythias lodge were installed into office in the K. of P. hall last night.

A feature of last night's gathering was the drill work put on by the Pythian Sisters. At the conclusion of the ceremonies, a lunch was served.

Following are the new officers of the Pythians: Chancellor commander, Stanford Kerr; vice chancellor, W. M. Kelsey; prelate, A. L. Larsen; master of works, James Clow; keeper of records and seal, H. B. McInde; master of finance, E. A. Hatfield; master of the exchequer, Charles Harrison; master at arms, Dr. B. Franklin Badgley; inner guard, Stephen Barrett; outer guard, Dan Higgins; trustee, Byron Winters; musician, A. L. Pendleton; deputy grand chancellor, John Saenger.

YORBA LINDA

YORBA LINDA, Jan. 26.—Mrs. Marsha Vernon was hostess on Sunday to a group of young matrons who comprise a bridge club. When score were tallied, first prize was given to Mrs. C. H. Eichler, second to Mrs. Gailerd Page, of Anaheim, and consolation to Mrs. R. C. Cochran, Mrs. Smith, of Los Angeles, who was a guest of the club, was given a dainty guest prize. Miss Vernon was assisted in serving dainty refreshments by her sister, Mrs. Warwick Murray.

Other members present included Mesdames M. F. Hohen, Grover Beal, B. M. Selover, H. R. Brown, Ward Holland and A. P. Yerington. Mrs. Yerington is to be hostess to the club at her home in February.

Mrs. Ella Buckmaster entertained at dinner Sunday for members of the family, who included Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Buckmaster and family, of Long Beach.

Mrs. Angie Bosworth, of Los Angeles, formerly of this place, was a week-end guest at the G. C. Kinsman home.

The Woman's club will enjoy a pot-luck dinner tonight in the club rooms. This will be followed by an interesting lecture on "The Inheritance Tax." A large crowd is anticipated by the executive board of the club, which is in charge of the affair.

UNITED EFFORT HARBOR'S NEED, SAYS S. A. MAN

NEWPORT BEACH, Jan. 26.—"The development of Newport Bay is not an exclusive Newport proposition and until the people of Orange county realize that it is their fight and get behind it in organized personal effort, it is not won."

This was the statement of Guy Gilbert, Santa Ana man, who spoke here yesterday at the regular meeting of the Harbor Luncheon club.

"People of today do not miss Orange county harbor as a port, because they have never had it as a port. At the time of the first bond issues for good roads there was much opposition. Put a fence across those roads today and force the same persons to travel over a dirt road and see what their opinion would be," Gilbert declared.

His talk was one of the most enthusiastic heard here for some time. Gilbert stated that if Orange county harbor was to be developed for the use of Orange county business and then taken away after a period of 10 years, it would start a revolution among the persons who are now opposing it.

Stanley Goode, Jack Wallace, Will Iversen and T. Ham spoke of the need of intensive co-operation toward the development of the harbor.

A concern which will employ 2500 men is ready to start operations in Santa Ana as soon as the harbor project is put over, according to one of the speakers. He declared that the industry would not locate in Santa Ana, however, if there was no water transportation available.

George Peabody, president of the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce, spoke of the land owned on the bay front by the county. A number of visitors were present.

BULB GROWERS NAME OFFICERS

ANAHEIM, Jan. 26.—A. R. Sprague, of the Rancho Santa Fe, was elected president and secretary-manager of the California Bulb Growers' association at the initial meeting of the organization here Saturday. The organization was formed with 27 charter members. More than 40 bulb growers of the country were present at the meeting.

C. R. Hannah, proprietor of the Hi-Way Bulb Gardens between Anaheim and Santa Ana, was elected secretary-treasurer of the organization. A. R. Baker, of Santioque, was elected vice president.

A board of directors composed of C. R. Hannah, Anaheim; A. R. Sprague, Rancho Santa Fe; H. L. Olmstead, Chula Vista; H. H. Tracey, Fullerton; C. A. Brazee, Torrance; A. R. Baker, Santioque, and George P. Cook, Covina, was elected.

Fullerton

FULLERTON, Jan. 26.—A happy day of reminiscence was enjoyed Sunday by a group of 35 Fullerton pioneers, who were entertained at the Balboa cottage of Dr. and Mrs. George C. Clark. George Amerige, founder of Fullerton, who settled here in 1837, was among the guests.

Honoring Mrs. Caroline Rose Carter, deputy grand matron of this district, Fullerton chapter No. 101, O. E. S., gave a dinner party at the Masonic temple Saturday evening. A program of music and dances had also been arranged for the occasion.

Mrs. Mable Ellis will be hostess to the Harmony club at her home Friday afternoon. It comprises members of the Neighbors of Woodcraft lodge.

Mrs. Olga Carrender entertained at breakfast yesterday morning for three of her friends who are moving to Los Angeles. The honorees were Mrs. Vera Wilson, Addie Henry and Mrs. John Casey.

Fullerton's Bachelor club, which includes in its membership many young men who have been married since the organization was formed, gave a star party Saturday night, honoring Dr. George McClelland, who will marry Miss Mary Sorsabel very soon. They presented him with a mantel clock.

Miss Maydelle Baker entertained at bridge on Saturday evening, a group of teachers and their men friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Orla Jencks had as guests Sunday, a number of J. Jencks' relatives. In the afternoon, they motored to spots of interest in Orange county.

Fullerton chapter No. 90, Royal Arch Masons, will install officers in the Masonic temple on Thursday evening. All Master Masons and their ladies are invited.

One of the first pre-nuptial courtships extended Miss Bernice Griffin, fiancée of Everett Berkeet, of Bakersfield, was the party planned by two former schoolmates, Miss Mary Osborne and Mrs. Ben Blanchard Jr. Some 20 girls were asked to the affair. The bride-elect received many beautiful gifts.

Members of the Big F society, an organization to which only girls who have won letters in major athletic events are eligible, enjoyed a progressive party over the week-end, Friday evening, following a theater party, they were overnight guests of Miss Josephine Arroues. After a waffle breakfast, they motored to the home of Miss Gertrude Wents for luncheon. In the afternoon, they enjoyed a card party at the home of their coach, Miss Florence Randall, and following dinner there, went to the skating rink at Naples.

Miss Seales and Miss Stella Graham were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Hile at Huntington Park.

Night Parking In Fullerton Is Prohibited

FULLERTON, Jan. 26.—Strict enforcement of Fullerton's night parking ordinance is promised in the future by local police, Chief T. K. Winters having issued a warning today. Several cars were tagged last week and a general campaign to enforce the ordinance prohibiting nocturnal parking is to be conducted, he declared.

The ordinance provides that no automobiles shall be parked on Fullerton streets between the hours of 1 a. m. and 5 a. m. in the morning, since they interfere with the motor street sweeper.

COMPLETE TWO OIL WELLS IN BEACH FIELD

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 26.—Two wells were finished in the Huntington Beach field during the past few days, both these wells being recompletions.

The Montebello Oil company's Moore No. 1 well was brought in with an initial production of 150 barrels a day of clean oil. The well was redrilled from 2660 feet, and finished at 4567 feet. It came in on the beam.

The California Petroleum corporation recompleted its Brown No. 3, with a production of about 100 barrels a day. It is located on Quincy street, and is an offset to the Wardlow property of the Associated Oil company. This well also came in on the pump.

FULLERTON TO SELECT C. OF C. OFFICIAL SOON

FULLERTON, Jan. 26.—Choosing Dale King to serve as temporary secretary, directors of the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce, at a special luncheon session yesterday, empowered their president, F. C. Krause, to appoint a committee of five to investigate the applications for the position, presenting their report in the near future. Mr. Krause announced that he would give the matter further consideration before naming the committee, who will be urged to eliminate, if possible, the names of all save five so that the final decision may be made easier.

J. A. Prizer talked briefly of the state fruit growers' convention, to be held here in November. He stated that a fund of about $1000 will be needed in order that the event may be properly advertised and necessary stenographic work accomplished. To insure the convention coming to Fullerton, representatives of various packing houses underwrote that amount, which they wish the chamber to now guarantee them. The board requested George Raymer, retiring secretary, to ask for an appropriation of $750 towards this fund from Orange county's advertising quota.

Tentative plans were made for extending hospitality to delegates to the Boy Scouts' convention, which will be held here on February 4, and to the sixth district librarians' association, which meets here February 6. The committee for the former was appointed by Mr. Krause. It includes Dr. James Chilton, Walter Cadman, Rich Volk, Angus McAulay and C. A. Marcy.

WALNUT MEN OF GARDEN GROVE GET $203,210

GARDEN GROVE, Jan. 26.—The regular annual meeting of the Garden Grove Walnut Growers' association was held at the Civic club house on Saturday.

There were over 100 persons present at the dinner, which was served by the Civic club members.

Following the meal, Dr. Bochehor, walnut specialist from the state experiment station, spoke on the walnut situation in Europe. Dr. Bochehor has just returned from France and Italy, and had some very interesting information regarding conditions in these countries, and it is his opinion that California may look for more serious competition from Europe in the future. Europeans are producing a very fine quality nut, and it simply remains for them to improve their marketing methods, he declared.

A. J. McFadden, of Santa Ana, spoke on the new standardization program that will be in operation next season. He told of the necessity for standardizing the product, and told of the benefits to be derived from the operation of such a program.

The auditor's report, which was entirely satisfactory to all the growers, was read. It showed that the association handled 515 tons of walnuts, an increase of 71 percent over that of last year, and received $203,210.93, exclusive of all culls and meats. The cull cracking plant is still in operation and probably will continue for two or three weeks.

At the meeting a revolving fund plan was adopted, which will provide back to each grower member, that which he has paid into the association.

The following men were elected directors: President, P. D. Brady, vice president, George Cole, director to central body, H. E. Carner, C. S. Holt, F. B. Cleveland, C. C. Vogle and G. H. Goodwin.

TRAIN PUSHES HIM

WAPHTON, N. D., Jan. 26.—Rudolph Stovner saved his life and his automobile by swerving onto the tracks in front of a locomotive and guiding his machine down the right of way for half a mile before the train stopped. The rear of the car was slightly damaged and two persons in the back seat were injured, but Stovner and another in the front seat were unhurt.

KILLS LANDLADY

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 26.—Napoléon Galan, 32-year-old restaurant worker, yesterday shot and killed his landlady, Mrs. Thomas Malarah, and then attempted suicide. The slayer probably will die.

PRISONER TRIES SUICIDE

SAN QUENTIN, Jan. 26.—William Smith, lifer from Lake county, attempted suicide in state prison here by slashing his wrists. He is expected to die.

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me. Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 221 M. Marcus Avenue, Manassas, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.—Adv.

OVER THE RIDGE TO CORONA

With the proposed road between San Juan Capistrano and Elsinore still unbuilt, and plans for its construction in abeyance, it seems useless to call up another across-the-ridge project for discussion. The San Juan Capistrano proponents of the road to Elsinore might very well claim that if Orange county is to spend any money for road construction in the Santa Ana mountains, their project should be given first consideration.

However, the people at Corona who are putting up their money for the building of a road to Oak Flat, on top of the Santa Ana range, have taken steps that cannot very well be ignored in this county. The United States Forest Service has matched $5,000 put up by Corona and the county of Riverside for the building of this road. Doubtless, the Forest Service will go fifty-fifty with this county for the building of a road up Black Star to the county line, meeting the Corona road at Oak Flat. The Forest Service has stood ready to do its part in building the road across the range to Elsinore; it is not likely to help the Riverside side of the range and pass this side by.

In years gone by, spasmodic efforts have been made by chambers of commerce to interest the people of this county in the building of a road to the top of Santiago peak. The high cost of construction, however, has caused the project to be set aside in favor of needs closer home. Corona is now at work upon the same idea, with the hope that the range may be developed scenically for Corona's benefit.

It may be ten or fifteen years, or it may be fewer years, but eventually the mountains will be crossed and re-crossed by road. The proposal that Corona extend the Oak Flat road along the top of the range to Santiago Peak is both interesting and significant.

A COMMUNITY ASSET

It takes a gathering, such as was held yesterday by growers of the Tustin Hills Citrus association, and figures such as were presented by the association managers, B. A. Crawford, to bring forcefully to our minds the year-around value to a community of a strong, successful association such as the Tustin Hills association. Moreover, it takes an occasion of this sort to make plain the duty of a community to give an association of this sort its undivided support.

The Tustin association has a long record of doing its work well. Eastern markets recognize the product of the packing house as thoroughly reliable. Long in the forefront as a valencia section, Tustin owes its reputation in that regard largely to the effort and substantial standing of the citrus associations located there.

The Tustin Hills association has always been in full sympathy with the co-operative idea, and has given support to the association movement, recognizing that it was through that movement that the citrus industry of California was put upon its feet. The directors and the manager, Mr. Crawford, have looked upon their positions as an opportunity to give real service to the members of the association.

The fellow whose life is wrapped up in bowling or golf scores can't understand the Roosevelt boys' interest in collecting ovipoli horns. And vice versa.

THE RUBBER BLESSING

There has been too much yammering about the British rubber monopoly. America might as well stand it like a good sport, inasmuch as she herself has played the game of monopoly at times to her own manifest advantage, and will do so again. Moreover, this temporary pinch is a blessing in disguise.

If high rubber prices hadn't come now, they would have come later. The rapid increase of the rubber demand would almost inevitably have outrun the supply within a few years if things had run along naturally, leaving everybody asleep. As matters stand, the East Indian growers, by limiting production and distribution, have waked up the whole world, and particularly Uncle Sam, to the needs of the future.

As a result, economic law—which is merely human nature working along economic lines—is already beginning to take care of the rubber problem. Consumers and investors are scouring the world for places fitted by climate and soil to produce rubber in the usual way. Chemists and botanists are seeking other sources of rubber, and substitutes for rubber.

All this takes a little time, during which the pinch continues. But there is every indication that before many years, the tremendous quantities of rubber needed for the automobile and electric industries, and many other industries as well, will be provided, from sources so vast and scattered that further monopoly will be impossible.

It's better to pay high prices now for a little while, when we can afford it, than to have great industries prostrated later on.

The flapper carries a vanity case full of powder, rouge and lip stick. At least she has graduated from the smelling salts stage.

ONCE OUT, THEY STAY OUT

A new argument against child labor regulation is coming to the front. "The habits of work are useful," say those who need working children in their business. "Therefore suffer the little children to go to work. It will be for their own good. For then they will go back to school with renewed zeal and understanding of its value or become unusually prosperous young business men."

The National Child Labor committee says that a great many people believe that sort of argument. Usually it is because they want to believe it. But it is incorrect and misleading.

In the first place, very few children go back to school after they have once left it. And in the second place, few children take jobs which have a future. A survey by the New York Educational Commission shows that not more than five per cent of children under 16 enter occupations with a chance for advancement. The other 95 are not starting at the bottom of a ladder up which they will climb to success. They are only losing themselves in blind alleys.

The habits of work are useless when they destroy the child's normal physical, mental and spiritual development.

FEWER MEN, MORE MAN POWER

Is labor inefficient? Here are some remarkable figures on the subject, submitted by the Federal Reserve Board:

American factories last year produced 5 per cent more output than in the record year of 1923, and did it with fewer men.

They even employed fewer men in 1925 than in 1919, and the product was 30 per cent more.

Bankers will not be suspected of misrepresenting in such a case as this. Clearly, if labor was slacking during the war and the boom period afterward, it is doing better now.

Employers are doing better, too, using improved methods and improved machinery.

Altogether, there doesn't seem to be any reason for doubting that American industry can hold its own.

Taxpayers Are Warned

Riverside Press
Taxpayers should be warned in advance against the so-called "tax relief" bill that will go on the ballot next fall. A circular regarding the measure says:

The tax relief bill will exempt all manufacturing machinery, stocks of merchandise and other forms of personal property and give an exemption of two thousand dollars to each taxpayer on improvements.

The objects and purposes of this bill are to reduce living costs and to attract to California men and wealth for productive purposes. A better statement of the case would be to say that the bill aims to shift a greater burden on the owner of a home or ranch. The bill does not contemplate any reduction in the gross total of taxes; it simply re-arranges the burden. There is no reduction on real estate; and in an agricultural county like this, most of the taxes come from real estate. If personal property is exempted, including all stocks of goods in stores, then the tax on orchardists and town lots will have to be increased.

The measure is a dangerous one; and taxpayers should be on guard against sophistries put forth in its behalf.

Under this law apparently the $30,000 perfecting press used to print the Riverside Daily Press, every one of the $5000 linotypes used to set the type on the paper and the other machinery used in its publication would be exempt. The Press is not asking for any exemption and does not think it should have it to the end that the ranchers and lot owners in the county should pay more taxes. The Press is willing to stand with them in paying a just proportion of all the taxes raised in the county; and this paper believes the merchants of Riverside will take the same view.

Pay for Roads As We Go

Fresno Republican
There may be some means devised by which we can get along without the appropriation of more money for the building of state roads. But we doubt it. The pressure for perfecting our state highway system is too great. Our citizens demand it. And these citizens are men and women whose votes, whose financial standing and whose public influence is sufficient to command political respect. The roads are going to be improved and extended, and this is going to cost money.

The way for that money to be raised is by taxation. It ought not to be raised by the voting of bonds. A vigorous protest should be made against any proposal of more state highway bonds. We have enough of them. We have saddled enough expense of this sort on the treasury for the next 40 years. During the next 20 years, at least, let us pay for our roads as we go.

No other course is valid financing. No other course is decent political morals. We can, and should, provide by bonds for public buildings that can and will be built so as to be serviceable for 50 years. But road construction is of very doubtful life. There is no such thing as a "permanent road." And most of them are, for a large part, experimental. In some respect, let's build them as well as we can. And let's pay for them, not ask our grandchildren to pay for them.

Health Topics

Surgeon General, United States Health Service

THE EAR IS DELICATE MACHINE

Many do not understand how delicate are the organs of hearing. The human ear is essentially a mechanism by which vibrations of the air are carried to the brain.

When a musical instrument is played it sets the molecules nearest it in motion. These strike the next and so on, the motion of the musical instrument being transmitted through the air like a wave.

The human ear is divided into three parts or chambers, according to the arrangement of the mechanism of sound transmission. These are known as the outer, middle and inner ear. The outer ear consists of a shell of cartilage which gives to the ear its shape. This shell is covered with skin.

A canal leads from the outer ear into the head and ends in a thin membrane called the ear drum. In this auditory canal are glands secreting wax. The middle ear consists of a chamber in the temporal bone bounded on the outside by the drum.

The cavities forming the inner ear consist of two sets of canals in the solid inner part of the temporal bone. One canal bends two and a half times around a circular column resembling very much a circular snail shell or a small snail. This is known as the cochlea. The cochlea opens at the lower end into a tiny chamber which also connects with the other canals. These canals are the semi-circular canals, three in number, and lie at right angles to one another.

In the cochlea is a sort of projecting shelf of bone and on this shelf rests the cells which constitute the real hearing part of the ear. This consists in part of cells having connection with the nerves of hearing and ending in tiny hairs which project into the liquid of the canal.

The sound waves now entering the auditory canal of your ears are striking upon the ear drum. This drum is set in motion and is pulling on the small bones attached to it. The end of the stirrup is now being pulled back and forth on the membrane, to which it is attached in the entrance of the inner ear. This is producing waves in the liquid of the internal ear, the hairs on the cells of the cochlea are vibrating in the liquid in which they float and this is stimulating the nerves which are carrying the impulse to the brain. Your brain cells are interpreting these stimuli as sounds. This, in brief, is a simple description of the structure and action of the human ear. You can readily see that the organs of hearing are indeed complex structures delicately adjusted.

Human mechanism of such fine construction and adjustment must, therefore, if it is to function completely, be treated with the same care and consideration as a delicate mechanical instrument. You do not repair watches with the same screwdriver you use in repairing your automobile. The same principle applies in the treatment of your ears.

Ain't It the Truth?

Laziness As a Sin

Kansas City Times.

Satan, we have been assured on high authority, always finds mischief for idle hands to do.

This saying comes to mind in connection with the discussion over the doings of young people. The hard workers aren't the ones who get in trouble.

Many parents have their ideas of morality upside down. It doesn't trouble them particularly if a boy is lazy. They are greatly disturbed if he swears.

But laziness is one of the deadly sins. If a boy works he keeps out of trouble. If he acquires any vices they can be dealt with. But if he is a confirmed loafer his case is pretty nearly helpless.

Industry is the foundation of character. Let this quality be present and all things else can be added to it.

Worth While Verse

WINDY TWILIGHT

To feel again the dusk wind blowing
Cold and wet on my lifted face,
To see once more a late light showing
Through tossed willows delicate lace;
To hear the swish of the tumbling grasses,
To glimpse a scurrying cloud's high wing
To clamber a hill that the old road passes,
I love it—O, more than anything
To climb where moist wet boughs are tossing,
To stand at last on a gusty crest,
Marking a low red sky line crossing
Its thread of color along the west;
To thrill with an old glad exultation,
Like a flame—like a cry—like a song to sing,
To be sure with the wind's own mad elation—
O heart—it is a wonderful thing.

The Very Idea!

THE PAST

Just stop and consider the things of the past and turn the thoughts over, right well, while they last. The tasks that you know you have slighted, when mass'd, the right sort of tip for the future will cast.

You can't let the dead past just bury itself, with many unfinished things left on the shelf. The person who's willing to have things that way, still lives in the past, as to labor, today.

The job that you face, day by day, can be met if you'll tackle the thing, 'stead of stopping to fret. To start's not the part that is right hard to do. It's the keepin' on goin', and carryin' through.

So, look to the past so's to sum up your faults, and say to yourself, "Here's where foolishness halts. The past will not hinder my chance. Never more! I'll be set for what future is holding in store."

Sometimes the next door neighbor wonders, "Am I a bass or an baritone?" And the answer is "No!"

It's pretty tough when young lovers can't make up because neither one of them remembers what they quarreled about.

HUMANITY'S BROMIDES: "I owe my success to early rising."—"The only education I have had, etc."—"I don't know art, but I know what I want."

NOW, HONESTLY—You think your friends believe everything you say when you're talking about yourself.

Kinda like you, doncha? It seems that way, where people hear you brag.

All of us like to broadcast our good points, now and then. It's human nature.

But, don't be too darn human. "Tis far better to let the things that you DO, not say, advertise your good points.

variety of sugar but it also supplies a fine quality of food-iron, which is entirely lacking in cane sugar. An ounce of dates supplies one-third more food-iron and seven times more time than beef tenderloin. The date requires nothing but the simple addition of milk to constitute a complete diet.

Legend of Jerba

Count de Prorok, noted French explorer and scientist, has temporarily abandoned work he was doing at Carthage and has gone to Jerba, a place that has suddenly jumped into prominence in archaeology.

Jerba is an ancient city on the west coast of northern Africa. It is mostly submerged. A treasure galley, laden heavily, has been found lying across one of the streets of the city. It probably sank centuries after the city itself had disappeared under the waters. Some of the contents have been removed and submarine cameras are being used to take movies of the work.

The legend of Jerba is that it was the land of the lotus-eaters. These people are famous in epic poems and the myths of Greece and Rome. They were supposed to eat the fruit of the lotus. The lotus tree itself is largely a mystery. There is no definite information as to what it was. The person who ate the fruit were supposed to "live happily ever after," dreaming and amusing themselves and with no wish to enter into the affairs of the outside world.

Common Colds

Dr. Wm. F. Clevenger, Indianapolis, Member Gorgas Memorial Institute.

Why should a very large percentage of the human family have, at intervals throughout the year, what is commonly known as colds? Not only thousands but millions of persons will be interested in the answer.

And the answer is "CIVILIZATION." To prove this go into the mountain regions away from congested centers, or isolate an individual on any island away from his fellow men and the ordinary paths of civilization. The effects are at once apparent. Why? Because, under such conditions there is complete removal from contact with those who carry the germs which infect persons with whom they come in contact. There is also the problem of atmospheric conditions which include not alone variations in temperature but the infecting and irritating chemical gases and micro-organisms which are present, in varying degree, especially in crowded cities.

Until recently little thought has been given to the exhaust gases from automobiles on the streets and highways and to the gases which result from the burning of coal. The explosion of gasoline forms carbon monoxide, and coal, when burned, leaves in the air sulphur gas. Nothing could be more irritating to the nose, throat and the air passages than either of these two products.

A contributing factor to colds is the mode of living of the average persons in the United States. It is far from normal. A diet, not well balanced, is the rule. A total absence of physical exercise is not alone the rule, but after thirty years of age, the man or woman who persists in athletics or any branch of athletics is the exception.

The people of North America are far more neurotic than almost any other race of people, and this is due to the strenuous life forced upon
